IT TAKES A LOT OF CLOCKS TO TURN BACK TIME

It took a lot of clocks at The Clock Shop in Mill Valley to fill up a shelf to explain what is going to happen tomorrow. Daylight saving time ends at 2 a.m. The hour we lost last spring will be gained back. You can save a lot of trouble by turning the clock back one hour before you go to bed, but if you forget you can do it in the morning. A new law says that bars close two hours after midnight, so patrons don't get an extra hour at the bar. Trains, including commute trains, will go back on standard time, except those that leave California. They've been on standard time right along and will remain there. But airline, train, bus, radio and television schedules should be consulted. Anyway have an extra 60 winks! (Independent-Journal photo)

Ike, Nikita In 'Intensive' Talk On Germany, Arms

No New Talks Set In Steel Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel industry's top negotiator in the 74-day-old strike says he's ready to resume talks here Monday. But steelworkers president David J. McDonald says he's through talking in New York.

Chief Federal Mediator Joseph F. Finnegan plans to meet during the weekend in Washington with Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell to review the stalemate. Finnegan indicated the talks might be shifted from New York when they resume, but he didn't say where.

McDonald broke off the negotiations here yesterday, calling the sessions a "farcial filibuster." He said he would resume only when management offers something "worthy of consideration by self-respecting steelworkers."

Chief industry negotiator R. Conrad Cooper said: "We hope that the union will reconsider its position and join with us then in a renewed effort to break the deadlock. This (New York) has been our agreed seat of negotiations. We plan to be here. We want to bargain and we want to reach an agreement."

Asked if the union would resume talks if the government requests it, McDonald said: "We have never resisted a call of our government. But we see no sense in coming back to New York City. The seat of the government is in Washington. The seat of the steel industry is in Pittsburgh."

IKE MAY ACT

The break-off might speed any decision by President Eisenhower to envoke the Taft-Hartley Act. Under an emergency provision of the law, the President could obtain an injunction that would require the striking steel workers to return to their jobs for 80 days for fact-finding and cooling off.

McDonald left the door open to the possibility of resumed negotiations Monday in some city other than New York if the companies have some kind of economic offer to make.

Asked what he would do if the government requests that the talks take place elsewhere, Cooper commented: "We will meet any request we have when we have it."

8,000 Auto Workers To Be Laid Off

DETROIT (UPI)—General Motors said today almost 8,000 of its employees will be laid off during the next two weeks as a result of steel shortages if the steel strike is not settled during that time.

A spokesman for the company said more than 900 workers already have been idled at four plants and a least 7,000 will be idled in the next two weeks.

The company emphasized, however, that the layoffs would have no immediate effect on final assembly of cars. Some of the workers are not even engaged in work on automotive components, the spokesman said.

In cases where the employees were working on automotive components, it was hardware and accessory production that was involved. The hardware and accessory divisions ordinarily run six weeks ahead of final assembly and hence the layoffs hit the supplier plants well in advance of the assembly lines.

The spokesman said 300 workers have been laid off at the AC spark plug plant in Flint, Mich., and 300 have been idled at each of the Ternstedt plants in Columbus, Ohio, and Trenton, N.J. Seventeen workers have been laid off at the New Departure division in Bristol, Conn.

City Of San Francisco Sued By Phone Company

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. is suing the City of San Francisco for almost One and three-quarter million dollars.

The company says the city hasn't paid its phone bill since Oct. 3, 1956.

Involved is the matter of franchises. Pacific Telephone, until Oct. 3, 1956, operated in San Francisco on a city franchise. Under its terms, the company paid the city 2 per cent of its gross receipts, provided 1,000 free telephones and special circuits for the police and fire departments.

Last March 17, the state Supreme Court ruled the franchise was in the domain of the state. rather than the city.

Now the company wants San Francisco to pay for the services furnished since October, 1956.

Naval Airmen Are Rescued From Ocean

SEATLLE (AP)—Ten wet and weary Navy airmen were plucked unharmed from the tossing Pacific Ocean early today, nearly 12 hours after they had ditched their twin-engined patrol plane.

A massive rescue operation went like clockwork, despite foul weather, darkness, fog and the fliers' position—110 miles off the mouth of the Columbia River.

The ten, crammed into a pair of well-outfitted rubber liferafts, were pulled to safety aboard the Coast Guard cutter Yocona from Astoria, Ore. The freighter Olympic Pioneer had reached the scene only moments before and stood by as the men were hauled from the sea at 12:50 a.m. PST.

PLANES OVERHEAD

Hovering above were four Navy and Coast Guard planes, their powerful searchlights cutting through a heavy overcast onto the drama enfolding below.

The cutter radioed Coast Guard headquarters here that the airmen, three officers and seven enlisted men, were in good condition but suffering from exposure and exhaustion. None was injured in the ditching or during the tricky transfer from the liferafts to the cutter.

The freighter, which had changed course toward the fliers while en route up the coast to Seattle, was allowed to proceed after a "well done" from the Coast Guard.

Rescue operations moved into full speed as soon as the P5M patrol plane radioed an SOS that one of its two engines was afire. The craft, a Marlin, was on a routine coastal patrol from Whidbey Island, Wash., Naval Air Station.

RADIOED POSITION

The plane steadily lost altitude as its pilot, Lt. James B. Henson, 27, of Pearchy, Ark., fought desperately to make it to land. Henson finally sent word he had to ditch, radioed his position and the craft slapped down.

The downed men radioed at one time that they were okay.

Ceylon's Prime Minister Dies Of Wounds

COLOMBO, Ceyon (AP)—Prime Minister Solomon Bandaranaike, 60, died today from an assassin's bullets — apparent victim of the struggle between Eastern and Western ways which swept him into power three and a half years ago.

The frail champion of Asian neutralism succumbed almost on the eve of a visit to the United States, which only a few months ago he termed Asia's best friend.

Wijayananda Dahanayake, 57, a politician from Bandaranaike's cabinet, was sworn in as the new prime minister. Dahanayake in the past has ranged the political spectrum from revolutionary red to conservative blue.

His most recent exploit was to force the resignation of Marxist ministers of food and industries from the cabinet.

British-educated Bandaranaike failed to survive a five-hour operation to remove three bullets which pierced his liver, spleen and arm.

Gov. Gen. Sir Oliver Goonetilleke, one of Britain's last remaining links with Ceylon, proclaimed a state of emergency on the island until the uncertain political situation is clarified.

On his deathbed, the mild-mannered prime minister forgave his accused assassin a professed Buddhist medical monk, who whipped out a revolver and fired as Bandaranaike bowed in reverence to him.

The monk and another man clad in saffron monk's robes had called at the Prime Minister's private bungalow in a luxurious Colombo residential area yesterday morning.

The gunman reportedly was angered by the prime minister's refusal to go all the way in shedding Western ways in favor of ancient Eastern medical techniques known as "Ayurveda."

The death of the nationalistic intellectual created a fresh political crisis in this Indian Ocean island with fears of new religious, racial and political strife that plagued his regime from the outset.

Dahanayake, the new Prime Minister, indicated there would be no major changes in his predecessor's Nehru-style neutralist policies. He announced he would be minister of defense and foreign affairs as well as prime minister and minister of education.

He set funeral services for Bandaranaike for next Wednesday after a period of lying in state.

Dahanayake, jailed by the British during World War II as a security risk, served as education minister in Bandaranaike's cabinet.

Bandaranaike had designated him to act as prime minister when he was out of the country.

MISSILE SHOT ACROSS SATELLITE PATH DELAYED

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force has called off an attempt to fire a bomber-launched missile across the path of the "Paddlewheel" satellite.

The Air Force said that "technical reasons" caused the postponement of the attempt to test the guidance system of the missile, which was to have been launched from under the wing of a B-47 jet.

The two-stage missile is designed to hit enemy targets from planes flying at great distances away.

"No attempt to hit the satellite was planned," the Air Force said. The missile carried instruments to record how close it would have come to the satellite.

No new launching date has been set.

Candidacy Of Gov. Brown To Be Urged

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (UPI)—A California Democratic party official said today, "Significant steps will be taken in the next 90 days" to boost Gov. Edmund G. Brown for president "with or without his approval."

Brown was "one of the top three of the top 10 potential candidates for president," according to Lion Steinberg, Southern California chairman of the California state Democratic Central Committee.

Steinberg said California party leaders would start a committee and organization to boost Brown's stock, possibly at the central committee meeting in San Diego in October.

He compared Brown's present position to that of Adlai Stevenson in November of 1951. At that time, Stevenson had gained the reputation as an able governor but "was not high in the polls. He emerged within eight months as the presidential nominee," Steinberg said.

Steinberg is a member of Brown's official party at the western governors conference, advising him on western farm problems. He also is a Brown appointee to the state Board of Agriculture.

Steinberg said Brown was not aware that he was making the statement. "In fact, he might be embarrassed by it," he said.

Rockefeller Won't Admit He's Running

HANOVER, N.H. (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, talking like an reluctant candidate but smiling like a winner, today toured New Hampshire which will hold the nation's first presidential primary election next March.

Rockefeller sidestepped every question about entering the GOP primary and declined to concede that a dinner he will attend tonight is a "Draft Rockefeller" affair.

"I'm having dinner with friends," he said. "I don't know who will be there."

He drove here to see a football game at Dartmouth, his alma mater, after talking with Gov. Wesley Powell and Sen. Styles Bridges, both of whom are uncommitted in the Republican presidential fight but are regarded as favoring Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Asked about his conference with Bridges, he said: "Oh, we talked about snowshoes."

At a news conference in Concord the most reporters got out of him was a renewal of his refusal to run for vice president. And he said he would back Nixon if Nixon won the presidential nomination—hastening to add that he'd back any Republican candidate "naturally."

OR PERHAPS A NEIGHBOR'S WOULD DO

Anyone tired of hearing his son trying to learn the tenor saxophone? Or anyone have a sax stored away in the attic?

If you have, there is a blind band leader, now a student at Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc., Los Ranchitos road, San Rafael, who needs one.

The reason is simple enough. It turns out that there are many musicians in the present Guide Dogs class. They want to strike up a little music now and then.

Loyal A. West of Ogden, Utah, a student, can play the tenor sax. He's a band leader. There are others who want to chime in with the accordion, violin and piano.

Tone Of Meeting Said To Be Generally Good

GETTYSBURG (AP)—President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev today had a "frank, intensive, exploratory discussion" of the Berlin dispute and problems of Germany. They also discussed disarmament.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty described the tone of the meeting as good.

Eisenhower and his Soviet visitor also spent more than two hours alone with an interpreter in private conversation, presumably covering a large number of topics not immediately made known to their advisers.

Their talks are scheduled to cover a wide range of critical Cold War issues during a weekend conference at Camp David, Md., Eisenhower's Catoctin Mountain hideaway.

In the course of the private talks the two leaders left the sun room of Aspen Lodge, visited the bowling alley in the camp recreation center and walked about the grounds for about a mile and a half.

SEES GAME

Khrushchev had asked to see a bowling alley. He and Eisenhower watched while a Navy man, Yeoman 2nd Class John Halferty, Fennimore, Wis., bowled a topnotch 218-point game. Halferty's scorecard was signed by Eisenhower and Khrushchev who congratulated him.

What particularly caught Khrushchev's interest, however, was not so much the display of high skill in a game he did not really understand as it was the operation of the automatic pin-setting machine.

Eisenhower and Khrushchev, who arrived at Camp David Friday in sunny weather, found the skies gray and foggy over the Catoctin Mountains today. They began their talks at breakfast shortly after 8 a.m. and about an hour later went into a big meeting with their advisers, headed by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and Russian Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

START TALKS

It was in this session that Germany and the Berlin problem were discussed and a start was made on disarmament issues.

Hagerty described the discussion of all the Berlin and German questions as exploratory, frank, and serious.

"They definitely got quite deeply into the issues," Asst. Secretary of State Andrew H. Berding told a crowded room full of reporters in the Gettysburg press center.

"This was not a superficial discussion," he added.

Hagerty said no "new projects" developed in the course of the talks about Berlin and Germany. But he said the Camp David meeting is not aimed at producing a decision. He gave every indication that neither side changed positions.

BERLIN QUESTION

This evidently meant that Khrushchev put directly to Eisenhower his argument that Western occupation of West Berlin must in some manner be brought to an end eventually.

It also seemed to mean beyond question that Eisenhower laid it on the line to Khrushchev—the United States and its allies will not pull out of West Berlin and intend to stand by their commitments to

Organized Labor Opposed To Brown's Water Program

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Organized labor in California is standing firmly against Gov. Edmund G. Brown's proposed 1¾-billion-dollar water program—unless there are provisions made against what is termed "unjust enrichment."

This was made clear yesterday in testimony before the Assembly Interim Committee on Water by Don Vial, an official of the California Labor Federation (AFL-CIO).

Vial maintained steadfastly under questioning by chairman Carley V. Porter (D-Los Angeles) that the water program would result in "unjust enrichment" and require a state subsidy.

He said land along the gigantic spiderweb of canals proposed for construction would be enriched through subsidy by not less than $200 an acre and enriched in its value by at least $500 an acre.

He suggested the state might solve this by eliminating subsidies above an arbitrary figure of $25,000 to individual landowners rather than by an acreage limitation, which has been subject to controversy.

Miss Borba To Become Mrs Scatena

Engagement of Lorraine Borba, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Borba of San Rafael and the late Mr. Borba, to Louis Scatena of Yerington, Nev. has been announced. No wedding date has been set.

The bride-elect whose father was a part owner of the huge Marin Land and Cattle Co. ranch in Sausalito which was recently sold, is a graduate of Dominican College. She taught in Fairfax before going to Germany where she taught for three years in the school for children of American military personnel in Maiz, Germany. She is now employed in San Francisco in the Pacific bonding department of the Fidelity and Casualty Co. of New York.

The future benedict, who has a large ranch and cattle business in Yerington, is the son of Mrs. Vince Scatena of Yerington and the late Mr. Scatena. He was born in Yerington but received his early educaion in Italy where his family went when he was a small boy. On return Louis continued his studies here and was graduated from Yerington High School. He has one brother, Gino Scatena of San Francisco.

MRS. ADAM MARRIED IN EAST

Announcement is being made here and on the east coast of the marriage of Mrs. Martha Saunders Adam of San Rafael and Robert George Bolles of Wellesley Hills, Mass., on Sept. 12.

The wedding took place at 5 o'clock in the afternoon at St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Newton Lower Falls, Mass. Attendant were Mr. and Mrs. John M. Whittier of Action Center, Mass.

For her wedding the bride wore a soft blue wool jersey dress with cap veil to match, and carried a small bouquet of butterfly orchids and stephanotis. Mrs. Whittier also wore wool jersey in off-white with a white hat and carried a bouquet of pink cymbidium orchids.

The new Mrs. Bolles is the mother of Charles S. Adam of San Rafael and Thomas W. Adam, serving with the Navy in Japan. She is the sister of Mrs. Charles J. Bradley of Ross, and the daughter of the late Capt. and Mrs. Charles W. Saunders.

The newlyweds will arrive the latter part of October or the first of November to meet Thomas Adam when he returns from Japan and they will spend the winter in San Rafael. They have not decided where they will live after that. They may take up residence in Vermont. The new benedict is a retired investment counselor.

Outdoor Art Club Section Announces Workshop Sessions

Ideas for decorative dish and table arrangements, including some for barbecue and patio tables, were given members of the Outdoor Art Club's garden section at its recent workshop meeting to start work on the annual Christmas sale.

Mrs. Charles Edwards, head of orchid flower arranging judging in San Francisco, gave the suggestions in her talk following luncheon.

Mrs. Walter H. Schroeder, Christmas Sale chairman, announced the next workshop will be on Oct. 1 at 10 a.m. She said dry materials are needed as well as pine cones and used flash bulbs and that those attending should bring their own tools, including clippers and gloves.

Mrs. Charles Ayers, garden section chairman, announced a field trip planned for Oct. 29. There will be lunch at the Allied Arts in Palo Alto followed by a tour of Sunset Magazine building at Menlo Park. Members and guests interested in the tour are asked to call Mrs. Wayne Bingham for reservations.

MARIN'S SOCIAL WHIRL

A European Tour Great Adventure

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

This will be the last "Social Whirl" for three weeks as I'm going on a whirl of my own. Tuesday night I'll leave with a group of other Marinites on the Independent-Journal's European tour. We'll fly TWA on the polar route to Rome and then there will be three marvelous weeks of travel through Italy, Switzerland and France. I'm so thrilled I can hardly make the keys on my typewriter work. I moved over from Cloud 9 and am just treading on air.

Frank George, manager of Redwood Travel Advisors, who arranged the tour, is getting me and all my gear to the airport early on Tuesday night as we're going to have a jam session before we take off. We all met and had a grand time at a champagne party the Georges gave at their Ross home and already we feel like old friends. Howard Wilson, sales representative of TWA, who told us about the trip arranged for us at the Georges' party will meet us at the airport in Rome but we will also have a courier who will accompany us all the way.

On Saturday night, Oct. 24, the William Prices are giving a gala welcome home dinner party for the Elliot Seymours of Belvedere, who have been in Europe for several months, and for me. Elliot and Virginia are due home on Oct. 14. I'll be back on Oct. 19. Ruth Price says she's inviting about 30 of our friends, that strolling musicians will entertain and that the menu will feature Italian, French and German delicacies. Sounds super. Virginia wrote me from Vienna, said she had 'run into" Lillian (Mrs. Don) Albertsen and the Forrest Gists of Kent Woodlands.

THE OPERA is the incentive for many parties both before and after the performance. The George Goheens of Mill Valley, who go to nearly every one, entertained before "Madame Butterfly" at a dinner at Alex Tangier's. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coe (he is the noted artist), Mrs. Eva Wales and Ernest Houdlette.

Last night was really "filled" for the Goheens. They were guests of the Arthur Dettners for dinner at Trader Vic's as were the Theodore Kolbs and Roy Bronsons. Then they went to the Opera House for the performance of "Andre Chenier" and after that the Goheens went on to the Pacific Festival Grand Ball at the City Hall. On Tuesday Mrs. Goheen and Mrs. John Lesoine will entertain at a dinner for a number of their women friends before the opera, "Carmen."

A GREYHOUND BUS with 50 residents of the Protestant Episcopal Home in San Francisco as passengers arrived at the home of Miss Ann Ellinwood in Hill Haven on Wednesday for an al fresco luncheon. In the morning the group had gone to Muir Woods and then to St. Stephens' Church in Belvedere where Rev. Edward J. Mohr, the rector, extended a warm welcome. St. Stephens is the church of Mrs. Marion Wright, executive director of the home. Two years ago Miss Ellinwood had also entertained the residents of the home at a luncheon.

Among the guests were Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Newton Longfellow, the Ralph Noahs, Robert Quinlans, Robert Carys and their children, also Mrs. Mildred Auslen and her son, William. The Neubarths' daughter, Sandra, is now a sophomore at Katharine Branson School.

THREE NEWCOMERS to Legend Road in Sleepy Hollow were honored at a coffee given by Mrs. Charles Hardeman and Mrs. James R. Rideout at the latter's home on Thursday. Honorees were Mrs. James Craig from Boston, Mrs. Walter Gregory from Japan, and Mrs. Alison Hana from Novato.

The guests, all of whom live on Legend Road, were: Mesdames Albert Shell, Fred Nannizzi, Philip Hoerr, John Boothby, L. R. Schinazi, J. J. France, Thomas Mauer, James Lytle, Stephen Pinson, Willis Evans, Lyman McBride, Thomas Anderson and Kurt Rupke.

FLYING TO HAWAII on Oct. 2 for a month's vacation are Judge and Mrs. Harold J. Haley of San Rafael. Primary reason for the jaunt is, of course, a visit with their daughter, Mrs. Irwin Davis (Patricia Haley) and her husband, who were married two years ago and live at Kailua on Oahu. He is a flight engineer with Pan American and flies from Honolulu to Australia.

The Haleys will also join the Carl Schiecks of San Rafael for a week or so at Hana Maui. The Schiecks flew to Hawaii today and will be there five weeks. Joining them for the last week will be their son-in-law and daughter, the Robert Banfields of San Rafael and little daughter Jean.

THE JUNIOR LEAGUE honored sustaining members at a luncheon yesterday in the Room of the Dons at the Mark Hopkins Hotel. In the Marin group were Mesdames Robert A. Blakeslee, Clifton Breckinridge, Frank Baumgarten, Harold Fletcher, Adolphus Craupner Jr. June Haseltine, M. Rogers Hunton, A. E. Larsen, George L. Lindahl, E. Gibbons Meyer, William P. Muller, Bullard Nugent, Francis F. Owen, Rafael Soriano, John E. Upston and William Niccolls. In the Sonoma contingent was Mrs. Dewey Donnell.

A FAREWELL TO MARIN is being voiced by the Paul Bucks much to the regret of their friends. In mid-October they are leaving by car for the East. En route they will stop in Los Angeles to join Hortense's brother, Emil Ams, and his wife who will be celebrating their thirtieth wedding anniversary and to see Paul's sister, Mrs. Laura Schneider. The Bucks will then travel to Spring Valley, N.Y. to see their only daughter, Mrs. Edward Petersen, her husband and their two little girls, Laura Louise and Linda Sue. Just where they will make their future home they have not decided. It may be New York or Florida, or they may return to California as they did five years ago after a sojourn in the East. They are selling their San Rafael home.

Paul was formerly with the North Bay Electric Co. Hortense, who has been secretary of St. John's Church in Ross for five years, is active in many organizations. She is a past president of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Marin County and of Marin Toastmistress Club. She is secretary of Marin Chapter of Sweet Adelines and member of the Garden Society of Marin, Tamalpais Centre Women's Club, St. Mary Chapter, and St. John's League of Episcopal Church Women.

Old Mill P-TA

Mill Valley's Old Mill Parent-Teachers Assn. will meet Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 29, at 3:15 in room 11 of the school. The program will be the showing of "The Challenge of The Gifted," the Vallejo Union School District's film on the gifted child.

Mrs. Grant Lippitt, president, will preside at a business meeting preceding the film.

Stephens Alumnae

The Northbay Stephens Alumnae will meet Wednesday, Sept. 30, at 12:30 p.m. in the Alta Mira Hotel, Sausalito, at a luncheon which will be followed by a business meeting.

SHIRLEY PRITCHETT, who will become the bride of Allen Beron Mitchell on Oct. 18 at St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon. Announcement of the engagement of the young couple and wedding plans was made at a dinner given by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Eleanor Pritchett of Tiburon.

AT ST. HILARY'S

Shirley Pritchett To Marry Allen Mitchell On Oct. 18

At a dinner given recently by Mrs. Eleanor Pritchett of Tiburon the engagement of her daughter, Shirley Pritchett, to Allen Beron Mitchell was announced. Revealed too, were the wedding plans of the young couple. The nuptial ceremony will take place on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 18, at 3 o'clock at St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon, with the Rev. James J. Forristal officiating.

Maid of honor will be Diane Fortini of Belvedere and the bridesmaid will be Shirley's only sister, Michele Pritchett. The future benedict's brother, Emery Mitchell, is to be best man and James McGuiness of Mill Valley will escort guests to their pews. The reception following will be at Mrs. Pritchett's home.

The bride-elect, whose father is Stuart Pritchett of Dos Rios, Calif., is the granddaughter of Mrs. Ralph Carozza of San Jose and Mr. and Mrs. Neal Pritchett of St. Louis, Mo. A graduate of Tamalpais High School, she attended College of Marin and is now a dental assistant in the San Rafael office of Dr. Kenneth McKinnon.

Allen, son of Beron Mitchell of Belvedere and the late Mrs. Mitchell, has one sister, Priscilla Mitchell, and he is the grandson of Mrs. Ida Mitchell of Belvedere and Mr. and Mrs. John O. Burrage of San Francisco.

Allen, who was also graduated from Tamalpais High School and attended College of Marin, has just completed service in the Army and is employed by Larson and Sutter Co. in San Francisco.

Guests at the dinner given by the bride-elect's mother were her two daughters, also Allen, his father, brother and sister and Mrs. and Mrs. Gordon Pritchett of Belvedere, Mr. and Mrs. Clint Nolan of San Carlos, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Tomrose of Tiburon, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harper of Corte Madera, Miss Michele Powers of Oakland, Miss Lucy McGuiness of Mill Valley and Miss Fortini.

Circle O To Entertain At A Dance Party

Ernie Trimpey of Los Altos will be guest caller for Circle O Promenaders fourth Saturday square dance party at Almonte Hall, Mill Valley, tonight. All square dancers are invited.

Hosts and hostesses for the party and in charge of refreshments are Mr. and Mrs. Merle Basom and Mr. and Mrs. Herb Buffam. Dancing will be from 8:30 until midnight.

Engaged Pair Share Honors At Dinner

An engaged couple, Clorinda Arata and Robert Newell Powers, was honored at a family dinner party given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Arata of Greenbrae recently. Plans are for a wedding early in January.

The bride-elect, who has two sisters, Mrs. Robert Finocchio of Santa Rosa and Joanne Arata of Greenbrae, is a graduate of St. Anselm's School, Dominican College and St. Mary's College of Nursing, and is a member of the nursing staff at Marin General hospital. Her grandmother is Mrs. Clorinda Arata of San Francisco.

Bob, son of Maurice J. Powers of Vallejo and the late Mrs. Powers, has two brothers, Langan an Xavier Powers of Vallejo. A graduate of St. Vincent's High School in Vallejo and the University of San Francisco, he is insurance manager with Hatch and Turner in Vallejo.

CHARLOTTE FOWLER IS TO BE BRIDE AT DECEMBER RITES

Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Fowler of Mill Valley have announced the engagement of their daughter, Charlotte Susan Fowler, to Peter David Nairn of San Francisco.

His parents are Norman Nairn of St. Raphael, France, and Mrs. E. MacDonald Nairn of Petersfield, Hampshire, England. His sister is Mrs. John Miller-Sterling of Petersfield.

Susan has two sisters, Mrs. Conrad Kloh of Ross, and Mrs. R. L. Hilliard of Baltimore, Md., and a brother, Stephen Fowler, a student at the University of California.

The bride-elect was graduated from Bennington College in Vermont and spent several years in Chicago at the orthogenic school as a councilor. She is now teaching first grade at the John Muir School in San Francisco.

Her fiance received the engineering degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and served in the U. S. Navy before he was graduated from the University of California with a degree in architecture.

Dec. 27 has been set as the date for the wedding of the young couple in the Mill Valley Community Church.

Adelphians Hosting Father-Son Party

Dr. Gurdon O. Oxtoby, professor of Old Testament Literature at the San Francisco Theological Seminary at San Anselmo, will be guest speaker at the Father-Son Party Night sponsored by the Adelphians women's organization of the Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church Wednesday night, Sept. 30. It will take place at the Sleepy Hollow Clubhouse, commencing at 7:30.

Dr. Oxtoby will show colored slides, "The Land of the Bible with Kodachromes." He will also do magic tricks, "Thirty Minutes of Mystery."

Refreshments will be served by the Adelphians. All fathers and sons are invited.

San Rafael Club Slate Lunch-Bridge Party

Mrs. S. N. McLaughlin of San Anselmo is taking reservations for the salad luncheon and card party of San Rafael Improvement Club to be held on Tuesday, Sept. 29, commencing at 12 M. Reservations may be made for individuals or for entire tables.

Following luncheon Mrs. John N. Raymond will conduct a one hour session on the fundamentals of bridge. This will be followed by supervised play. Those attending are asked to bring their playing cards.

Bryn Mawr Alumnae Greeting Fund Officer

When Miss Eleanor Morris secretary of the Alumnae Fund of Bryn Mawr College arrives in the Bay Area early next month for a two-day visit she will be entertained at teas and coffee parties in various parts of the Bay Area. On Tuesday morning, Oct. 6, Mrs. Henry Hayes of Kent Woodlands will honor Miss Morris at a coffee.

Miss Morris will tell of Bryn Mawr's achievements and goals and outline plans for the celebration of the 75th anniversary of the college.

Traffic Up On State's Bay Bridges

SACRAMENTO (AP) — All five of the state-owned toll bridges in the San Francisco Bay area were busier than ever last month.

Good weather, heavy summer travel and the general increase in motor vehicle traffic were credited by the Public Works Department for the new records.

Traffic on the Bay Bridge totaled 3,396,389, up 4.3 per cent from August a year ago; on the Dumbarton Bridge, 177,878, up 16.3 per cent; on the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge, 320,071, up 9.4 per cent; on the San Mateo-Hayward Bridge, 326,060, up 6.6 per cent; and on the Carquinez Bridge, on which tolls started only last November, 1,231,713.

The Golden Gate Bridge is not state-owned; it is owned and operated by the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District.

SINGER DUE HOME—Bobbi Norris, for the past two months on a singing circuit across the county, will visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Norris of 45 South Knoll road, Mill Valley, next week prior to a singing engagement at Lake Tahoe. A graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, she has sung at several supper clubs.

Lebanon District Will Vote Tomorrow In Tense Situation

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—Tiny Lebanon is approaching its touchiest election since last summer's revolt, fearful the contest will provoke renewed violence.

At stake is a single seat in the country's 66-member parliament, the Chamber of Deputies—a vacancy itself created by violence. The last incumbent, Deputy Niam Moghabghab, was killed late last July by assassins' bullets a few miles from his evening's destination, the mountain summer residence of President Fuad Chehab.

CAN'T AGREE

Preparations for the balloting, scheduled for tomorrow in the mountainous Chouf district southeast of Beirut, have consisted primarily of efforts to avoid it altogether. Attemps to find a single candidate upon whom all factions can agree in advance have failed, however, and seven hopefuls remain.

The deadline for withdrawal of candidates was the middle of this week, but only five out of the 12 candidates pulled out despite last minute efforts to reduce the field further.

TEMPERS FRAYED

Behind trepidation over the election is fear that political tempers, still so badly frayed from last year's rebellion, will again be chafed to violence. "Lebanon is not yet ready for an election" is the common complaint, and few responsible leaders are anxious for the chance to be proved wrong.

Focal point of the present campaign is the long-standing dispute between two other deputies anxious to increase their influence in the Chouf. They are former President Camille Chamoun and Kamal Jumblatt, socialist-minded deputy, hereditary leader of the Chouf's Druse Moslem sect and the area's most important homegrown political figure.

LED BATTLES

As one of Chamoun's top lieutenants during the more than five months of fighting last year, Moghabghab led the battles against Jumblatt in some of the revolt's bitterest fighting. After the assassination, Moghabghab's family declared Jumblatt himself was personally responsible.

So far no one has been charged with the killing and it goes unavenged.

Prospects For 1959 Vintage Have French Smacking Lips

PARIS (AP) — When a Frenchman says 1959 is a great year, he's talking about wine, not politics.

The prospects for this year's vintage have Frenchmen smacking their lips. The wine is good everywhere. In the rich burgundy district experts say this year's product may surpass the exceptional richness of 1929, one of the best years of the past century.

Fall is the season of the "vendages" in France — when the grapes are hauled in, fermented and put in casks. In many wine producing districts a rich aroma blankets the countryside. Knowledgeable buyers and restaurant keepers seek out good fields like bees.

This year's quality is due mainly to the weather. One of the sunniest and driest summers in half a century made the grapes rich in sugar. When fermentation begins those mysterious processes which result in wine will be intensified.

Production is guessed at almost 1½ billion gallons. While much of this will be exported, the abundance at home will help keep prices down.

Some young wines will be on restaurant tables in a matter of months but the more sophisticated wines won't appear until later. They must age in casks before being bottled. Some of the great wines show up poorly when they are young. An experienced wine taster can sample one of these wines fresh from the cask, when it may taste like medicine, and tell the exact year when it will mature into a delight.

SPIDER BITE LANDS HIM IN WEB OF LAW

ELKO, Nev. (UPI) — Evan Harney, Owyhee, took too seriously a friend's advice to take some alcohol as treatment of a spider bite.

"I took too much," Harney told the judge after being picked up for being drunk.

Judge Joseph King released him and told him to go to a hospital, which might provide a more reliable treatment.

Trio Injured In Three-Car Crash On 101

Two persons were treated for whiplash neck injuries and another for a bruise on the head after a three-car accident Thursday on Highway 101 near the Belle avenue on-ramp in San Rafael.

The cars were driven by Anne C. Parfitt, 37, of 28 Lauren avenue, Novato; Floyd Earl Cline, 43, of Santa Rosa, and Louis L. Maiden, 53, of Sebastopol. Maiden was driving south; the others, north.

The California Highway Patrol said an unidentified station wagon entered the highway from Belle avenue at 10:40 a.m. and Mrs. Parfitt switched lanes, causing Cline, driving behind her, to swerve. Cline's car hit the dividing strip and collided with Maiden's car.

Injured were Maiden, Mrs. Della F. Maiden, 53, also of Sebastopol, and Nola Jackson, 67, of Louisiana, Mo., all in the same car. The Maidens were treated at San Rafael General Hospital for neck whiplashes; Mrs. Jackson, for a head bruise.

Hey, Pat, How's About Talking English Again?

For a number of months we rather enjoyed hearing speeches by Gov. "Pat" Brown. He seemed to attack his subjects with directness and with words which said just what he meant.

But there are great dangers in Sacramento. Not the least of these is the language to which you are introduced, those high sounding words which cover up the fact they mean little or nothing.

In the past six weeks or two months we have noticed these words and phrases sneaking into the governor's talks. They are the words of the bureaucrats and the educationists. Evidently they are starting to rub off on the governor.

This week it was brought forcefully to our attention. First, in his welcome to Khrushchev, the governor used "meaningful" twice within five sentences.

Then in his address to the broadcasting executives at Palo Alto, he mouthed such bureaucratic cliches as—"a meaningful, close-up view" — our lives "broadened and enriched"—"emotional and intellectual horizons have expanded" — "maximum advantage." About the only thing he didn't do was "finalize" something.

Look, Pat, we don't object to your using whatever words you want to use, but we did enjoy it the old way. Fight hard, Pat. Resist the temptation to use the gobbledegook the bureaucrats would foist on you.

As Phil Harris used to sing in his song about the one-eyed poker player, "Speak in that good old English language so we all can understand."

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

IT'S STILL GARBAGE

A private garbage collecting firm on Long Island is using a lavender scent to perfume its garbage cans. It intends also to use lily and gladiola perfume in the near future.

The sanitation company has tried out the experiment with success on 800 trash receptacles and plans to extend the service to all of its 25,000 customers.

It will cost $1,000 a year to perfume the garbage, which is supposed to destroy bacteria and repel flies as well. But the head of the garbage company said: "We don't mind going to the extra expense as long as it makes people happier with our service."

While there is some merit to making ordinary garbage a little less objectionable, care should be taken not to extend this practice too far.

Rot and decay of any kind, particularly that which poisons the soul of man, is far more dangerous when it is veiled in a sweet smelling aura.

Help the young especially to distinguish between what is true and that which parades as truth.

"Sanctify them in truth. Thy word is truth." (John 17:17)

Give me the wisdom, O Holy Spirit, to recognize reality and not be deceived by appearances.

MARIN LOOKS AT POLITICS

Half The Fun Of A VIP Visit Is Talking To Other Newsmen

By CHAPIN A. DAY

The visit of an internationally known figure like Premier Khrushchev leaves a newsman with a myriad of impressions. Some come from the principal himself; others come from the newsmen who travel with the VIP.

With Khrushchev were about 40 Russian newspaper men and women. A number of them spoke English. But it was difficult to get together with them for a little shoptalk.

I tried. The first night they arrived, I went to their hotel, which, incidentally, was an unfortunate choice — the aged Sutter Hotel on Sutter Street near Market. I knew that Khrushchev was to have a private dinner with labor leaders and that therefore the reporters, theoretically, would not have a busy schedule.

First I talked to a couple of them in the lobby, inviting them to ride over to Marin with me, visit my home and just talk a bit. They said they would like to, but they didn't have time. Finally I got hold of their interpreter, the head man of the contingent. He said the same thing, thanked me and took my phone numbers in case someone wanted to go. I didn't hear from him again.

ON THE BOAT TRIP with Khrushchev I was aboard one of the press boats and had a little free time. First I selected one man in a group that was busy talking Russian. When he broke away slightly from the group I asked, "Do you speak English?"

"Fairly fluently," he answered. He turned around and I couldn't help noticing his press badge said "Detroit Times.' '

On the second try, however, I got in conversation with Mrs. Natalia Sergeeva, chief editor of the magazine "New Times" of Moscow. She had been Pravda's correspondent from Moscow at the San Francisco organization of the United Nation in 1945. She spoke good English, but was more interested in talking about the Bay than about Russia.

WITH HER was a fellow named Khachaturyan (no relation to the musician), who represented the paper Sovietacan Ayastan of Erevan, Armenia. He didn't speak English, but he asked a lot of questions about how long are the bridges, which one was the Bay Bridge, which one the Golden Gate and kept asking to be shown on a map where the boat was at that particular time.

In all, I got little information about Russia or the Russian press from either of them. They too refused a ride in my car or a Marin visit.

MY MOST interesting discussion of the Russians was with an Italian newsman. He is Auro Roselli, representing Il Giorno of Milano. His office is in New York.

Well educated and speaking precise English, he discussed the Russian people with us for about an hour while we drove from San Jose back to San Francisco. His remarks were enlightening.

The main problem in understanding the Russians is communications, he said. Take the word "freedom." Americans say they have freedom; Russians say they have it too. They are both right. What's wrong is that the word freedom doesn't mean the same thing in the two languages.

Over here we think of individual freedom, of a cowboy astride his horse on the range, free to go where he wants and when. In Russian, they think of the freedom to belong to something, to be a part of the whole.

This concept didn't come from the Soviet regime. It is based far back in Russian history, but of course fits in ideally with communism.

He said, it has been possible for a young man to leave his village to go to the city to school and come home at the end of a term to find the whole village had died of starvation.

Or that if a winter hangs on extra long, a river might not thaw on time and a complete community die either of lack of water or disease. No one might learn of it until the spring thaw opened travel again.

With such a background, he pointed out, the freedom of a cowboy has little appeal. Rather they fear a situation where they don't have others to rely upon.

"The Russian people are actually still a feudal people," Roselli declared. They are still like the peasants gathering around the castle. Although the economy is greatly industrialized, the people haven't been as yet.

When they do, it is going to be interesting to see what happens to the communist system.

OUR LOAD FOR YEARS TO COME

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Didn't Visit To Be Judged

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I want to congratulate Walter Lippmann for his most wonderful article published in your esteemed paper last evening, (Sept. 21). It is by far the best I have read about Mr. Khrushchev's visit.

I agree with him thoroughly. The trouble with most of us in United States lies in the fact that we ignore what war is, and cannot appreciate fully that any attempt towards a mutual self respect and understanding to avoid such a dreadful curse, is worth trying.

Mr. K, after all, did not come over to be judged, but to be shown the good points in our system and mode of living, and, if the President has invited him, it should be enough for us to accept this with confidence and trust. Much can come out of personal contact, and we should pray and hope it does.

It is difficult for us to understand the Russian mentality and we make little efforts to learn about the Russian people, yet, there are plenty of good translations of their literature quite worth reading. I do not mean communist propaganda and that sort, but works of Rahv, Gogol, Turgenev, Leskov, Dostoevsky, Chekhov, Bunin, Olyesha, and, of course Tolstoy, etc. It usually is very sad like themselves, but shows all the trend of the slavic races so far from us in many ways.

Also, we forget that the few men in power in Russia do not represent all the people there, and it would be a great mistake to englobe every one in one lump. The revolution which took place in the vast country needs much time to settle many problems, eventually the best element of the people, with the better education starting, will emerge and take the lead (it always does). In the meantime, the world has to cope with the Communist Party in power, and try to keep peaceful relations with it. It is not easy.

China is the greatest threat, however, and bears watching. It may be that Khrushchev is afraid of it himself and may want our possible help in case of trouble. Who knows?

Sodium Fluoride Etches Glass

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

It seems to me that a quote from the Magazine Section of the I-J p. 5, April 17, 1954, might be pertinent to the 'times':

Question: "I want to make two water glasses, which my children use, with their names. Can this be done at home?" Mrs. R.W.S., Indiana.

Answer: — "Try this home method. Cover an area of the class with melted paraffin and allow it to harden. It should be very thin. With a pencil or pointed stick, scratch a name or design into the paraffin, being sure that the glass beneath is exposed. Now, MIX SOME ROACH POWDER (SODIUM FLUORIDE) AND STRONG VINEGAR TO FORM A PASTE AND SPREAD THIS OVER THE DESIGN. IN SEVERAL HOURS IT WILL ETCH THE NAME INTO THE GLASS." (Capitalization only added.)

And this is what the fluoridationists want to put into our water — sodium fluoride. If mama happens to spill the vinegar, it might be we'll end up with some (t)etched insides? Could be. And it won't be just the cucumbers that are in the vinegar-water doing the didoes.

Income Tax To Build Schools?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Why can't the state government increase our state income tax one half of one per cent?

The other half of one per cent will be paid by the state towards building more schools for our children. Compensation for pensioners and people who are dependent upon the state for a livelihood could in some manner be exempt from this added tax.

If the state decides to raise our taxes we have to pay. There are no yeses or no noes. If "Pat" says we have to pay three cents more for a pack of cigarettes, "No tickee no laundlee," we pay.

Even with one half of one per cent, we could have wall to wall carpeting in our class rooms, but we can dispense with that, just give us a roof to put over our children and our children's children.

The American family wastes more money on frivolous things to put a school bond issue over. I'm not a pro nor a saint, but I maintain that less Christmas Eve office parties, less liquor in the home, less tobacco, etc., would be more in keeping in sharing with our children and providing for them.

Please, American public, give this some thought, and try to think of your children and grandchildren to come. Give them the class rooms that are so badly needed.

To you voters who voted yes in the recent bond issue election in Mill Valley, I take my hat off to you. To those of you who didn't, try to remember (if possible) back to when you were a child and ask yourselves this one question: "What would I have done, what would I have amounted to if my parents had not sacrificed in some manner to see that I, a child, could have an education?" If so, you received what you wanted. You went out in life and pursued and achieved. Some of you may now be retired. YOU got what you wanted in life.

Now think of this — whether it be another's child or your own, education must progress and more class rooms are needed in order to offset the inevitable double sessions we are faced with in our locale.

Khrushchev Made Two, Not One, Programs For Disarmament

Mr. Khrushchev's set speech at the U.N. was hard to follow as he delivered it, and it is not easy to read. But if I have understood him rightly, he proposed not one but two programs of "disarmament."

One is for "general and complete disarmament." This is to be carried out by mutual agreement in three stages within a four-year period and it is to end in the destruction of all arms but small ones, the abolition of conscription and military training, the ending of research for war purposes, the dismantling of general staffs, and so forth. The second and separate set of proposals contains a list of "partial measures of disarmament."

IT IS REASONABLY clear that in the General Assembly of the United Nations Mr. K. wishes to have the debate turn on Plan One for general and complete disarmament. But at Camp David and at the meetings which follow it, he appears to wish to negotiate about Plan Two for partial disarmament.

Mr. K. is, of course, well aware that except perhaps in very large generalities about peace and disarmament the United States and its allies are not going to accept Plan One for general and complete disarmament. That is why he has prepared Plan Two for partial disarmament.

AN EXAMINATION of his five measures for partial disarmament shows, I think, that they have a common characteristic. With one exception dealing with "surprise attack" his proposals do not depend in any difficult degree on inspection.

Of the five proposals the first two are the most substantial and the most immediately interesting for a possible negotiation. The first proposal calls for "the establishment of a control and inspection zone with the reduction of foreign troops" in the territories of the corresponding countries of Western Europe. This was originally put forward as a Western idea and it is well within the bounds of what might profitably be negotiated. It does not call for "disarmament" or for "disengagement" but for some "redeployment."

THE SECOND proposal is for a variant of the Rapacki Plan which would prohibit nuclear weapons in a zone which would include the two Germanies, Poland, and Czechoslovakia. There are objections to the proposal. But they are not so absolute that one must dismiss the proposal as not negotiable.

The third proposal is for the withdrawal of "all foreign troops from the territories of European states and liquidation of military bases in foreign countries." This proposal is, of course, unacceptable. Under existing conditions we shall not retire from Europe.

The fourth proposal is for a non-aggression pact between N.A.T.O. and the Warsaw Treaty states. It is hard to see any serious objection to this, or for that matter any great value in it.

THE FIFTH proposal sounds as if it were an afterthought inserted to catch the attention of the President. It is an "agreement on the prevention of surprise attacks." Nothing is likely to come of this. This is the kind of agreement which, if nations were to believe in it, requires just that kind of pervasive inspection of military secrets which the Soviet Union most objects to.

Nevertheless, although two of the proposals — for our retirement from Europe and for the prevention of surprise attacks — are unrealistic, there are three proposals which are well within the field of serious and thoroughgoing discussion and negotiations.

Highway Patrol Faces New Problems With New Vehicle Code

Marin's traffic patrolmen are just about going nuts trying to figure out the revised edition of the California Vehicle Code — a big fat set of rules governing traffic violations.

Up to now, a drunken driver was a plain 502, pronounced Five-oh-two. Now he is a 23102-A or a 23102-B, depending on whether he is a repeat offender.

In the past, a patrolman would radio ahead: "There's a five-oh-two headed your way. Please intercept." But hereafter, you can just about imagine a patrolman pull out his big new vehicle code from his pouch (it's too big for the hip pocket) and stammer into the mike: "Let's see now. Wait'll I get the right page. There's a whatcha-ma-callem weaving down the road. A Two-three-one-oh-two-aye or bee headed your way . . ."

By that time, the aye or bee has probably weaved his car over the horizon into Sonoma.

BUT SERIOUSLY, this new code is supposed to be more systematic and more precise in definitions of violations. For example, a car with a loud muffler is probably violating something. It could be Section 27150 (inadequate muffler), 27151 (modified muffler), 27152 (exhaust diverted illegally to the side of car), 27153 (letting excessive smoke, fume or flame escape), or 27154 (not having the cab section free from penetration of gases and fumes).

The thing to do is to stop the car first, then tell him to relax while you find out just what he did wrong.

DID YOU KNOW that Dr. Ray Simpson, assistant superintendent of schools in San Rafael, was once a professional musician? You ought to hear him play the trumpet!

Or that Carmel Booth of San Anselmo used to attend grade school with a new prominent Marin judge, who had a habit of dipping Carmel's pigtails into the inkwell and flipping them across her face?

FOR SOME TIME there, the cigarette machine in the court house was quite a gamble. Sometimes you got both cigarette and coins back. Then sometimes you got nothing.

Only reason it wasn't reported earlier: we were way ahead until recently.

DEER SEASON must be over. Tuesday morning a three-point buck strolled nonchalantly along the sidewalk on Lincoln avenue in San Rafael, just about crowding pedestrians off the walk.

Only when a busload of passengers got off did the buck saunter into the hills looking for more antler room.

MARINITES WHO saw Khrushchev in person report he looks almost like a small time farmer. Others thought he looked like a city councilman.

FROM THE NEXT election, County Clerk George Jones says each county will be equipped with a teletype system to wire in the voting results to Sacramento every hour for a quick statewide tabulation.

Jones must start tabulating the vote immediately and report to Sacramento every hour.

THE IDEA of having St. Mary's frosh plant one thousand pine trees on the campus as part of initiation last week was conceived by a Marin youth, Gary Giacomini. He's sophomore president.

Seems the sophs were using paddles on the frosh with too much vigor, and the administration were all set to cancel initiation. The sophs quickly handed the paddles to the frosh and ordered them to use them as spades to dig holes for tree planting.

That saved the day for the sophs.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

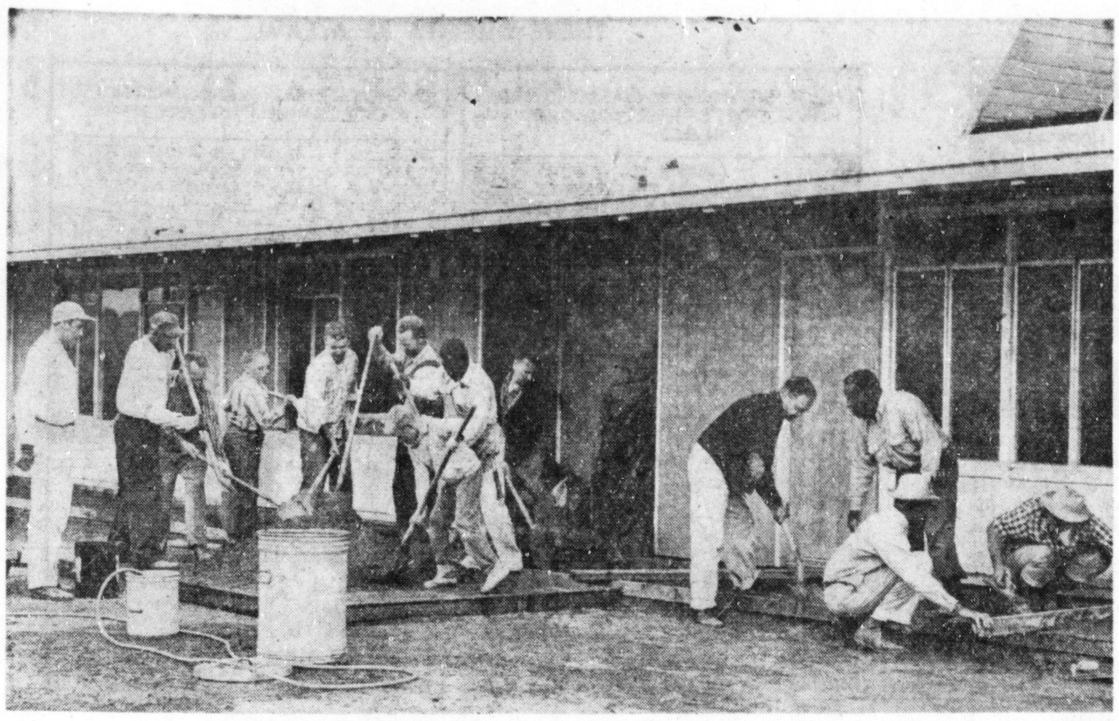
The new young preacher slaved over his first sermon, and marched off to his country church with high hopes. But only one lone man turned up to hear him. "What am I supposed to do now?" inquired the crestfallen preacher.

"I'm just a simple cowhand," responded the lone parishioner, "but if I took a load of hay to pasture and only one cow showed up, I sure would feed her."

So the preacher went through with his long sermon just as though the church was packed. At its end he asked his single listener, "How did I do?"

"Well," was the answer, "like I said, I'm only a cowhand, but if I took a load of hay to a herd of cows and only one showed up — I sure wouldn't give her the whole load!"

Things were always popping in Herb Shriner's old home town. "There wasn't too much excitement weekdays," he recalls, "but (oh boy!) the times we had Saturday nights watching haircuts!"



HELPING THEIR NEIGHBORS

The First Baptist Church of Corte Madera is using volunteer labor to build its new church. Last Saturday, the congregation got an assist from Rev. Samuel L. Banks, pastor of the Village Chapel Community Church of Marin City, and four members of the Marin City congregation, who joined with men of the Corte Madera church in putting in a concrete sidewalk across the front of the building. Rev. Gerald S. Moyer, minister of the Corte Madera church, spoke gratefully this week of the neighborly helping hand stretched out to his congregation by the Marin City group. Novato Church To Hold Two More Services

The Novato Community Methodist Church will begin an Experiment in Worship tomorrow. Rev. Lawrence H. Doyle explained that there will be two additional Sunday services. To meet the varied needs of the people of the church, there will be both an early morning worship service at 8 a.m. and an evening song service at 8 p.m.

In addition there will be youth meetings each Sunday evening. The Christian Adventure Fellowship for junior high youth meets at 6:30 and the Methodist Youth Fellowship for high school youth meets at 7 o'clock.

This Sunday at the 11 o'clock service there will be recognition and dedication of church school teachers and workers. At the evening song service there will be the installation of the officers of the Christian Adventure Fellowship. Those to be installed are:

Lorriane Moberg, president; Toni Pelmear, vice president; Virginia Roberts, secretary; Fred Arnold, treasurer; Kathy Phillips and Linda Namur, song leaders; Jim Crumpler and Ginney Grimes, recreation leaders. Miss Sandy Whitney and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Crumpler are the counselors of the group.

Congregation To Hear Speaker

The speaker for missionary emphasis night at the First Baptist Church of Corte Madera at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow will be Miss Jonnette Kelley of the Berkeley Baptist Divinity School.

Miss Kelley is a daughter of Rev. and Mrs. John Kelley, missionaries to the Philippine Islands.

Centennial, Dedication Rites Slated

The San Rafael Methodist Church will hold a twin celebration Oct. 23, observing the centennial of organized Methodism in San Rafael and dedicating the congregation's church.

The day's program will start at the Corte Madera Recreation Center at 5:30 p.m. with a reception honoring past ministers and their wives, widows of past ministers and past presidents of the church's women's society.

Dinner will be served at 6:45. After dinner, the congregation will go to the church for dedication ceremonies by Bishop Donald H. Tippett of the California-Nevada Conference.

United Crusade Sabbath Observed

Leaders of three religious faiths have joined in proclaiming this weekend as United Crusade Sabbath in Marin County.

An interfaith letter to all congregations has been signed by Monsignor Clement J. McKenna of St. Vincent's School, the Rev. John Bonner of the Marin County Council of Churches and Rabbi Morton Hoffman of Temple Rodef Sholom.

The joint message pointed out the close relationship of the purposes of United Crusade agencies to all spiritual responsibilities. Not only do many of the Crusade's 263 causes throughout the Bay Area have a close association with churches and synagogues, the religious leaders said, but also "their purposes, and the devotion of their leaders and volunteer workers, spring from motivations which are at the heart of religion."

Nikita Surprises With References To Deity

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Why the "nod to God" by Nikita Khrushchev, world leader of atheistic communism?

The Soviet Premier has sprinkled his remarks in the United States with references to the Deity and Christian principles.

He has said, "We have taken a lot of Christ's precepts, for instance, love one's neighbors and others." He commented that the Christian religion teaches one to forgive. He quoted the Commandment, "Thou shalt not kill."

Khrushchev even claimed in Iowa that God "is on our side. He helps the intelligent."

Why, from a nonbeliever?

The Associated Press asked clergymen across the country for comment.

Most felt that Khrushchev's purpose was primarily to find a favorable area of response among his audiences.

Khrushchev's remarks, while arousing a smattering of optimism, generally provoked skepticism among Protestant, Catholic and Jewish leaders.

POOR EXAMPLE

"As far as love of neighbor is concerned, he has proved everything but that in recent years, especially in Hungary, Poland and other Iron Curtain countries."

Rabbi Levi Olan of Temple Emanu-El in Dallas said Khrushchev is an atheist and "there is no question about it."

"I think he has used what religion has developed in a moral sense to bolster his materialism," the rabbi said.

RAY OF HOPE

The Rev. John E. Barclay, president of the Boston Council of Churches and pastor of the Church of All Nations, Morgan Memorial, saw a ray of hope.

"It may yet be that Christ will be the common ground of understanding upon which peace on earth can be built. We have all been praying for this for a long time. Let us see if this is the answer to our prayers."

Pastor To Be Installed

Rev. Ole Winter, new pastor of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Novato, will be installed at 4 p.m. tomorrow by the Rev. A. B. Swan of Hayward.

Assisting in the installation service will be Rev. R. Moe of Vallejo, Rev. G. O. Loftness of Corte Madera, Rev. Earl Soiland of Napa and Rev. Julius Hansen of Santa Rosa.

The ladies of the church will serve lunch after the installation service.

Lecture Series On Church Rites To Start On Monday

One of the world's authorities on the liturgy and worship of the Anglican Communion will open a series of lectures on the Eucharist at the Church of Our Saviour, Mill Valley, at 8 p.m. Monday.

Dr. Massey J. Shepherd Jr., who will lecture for five consecutive Monday nights, is the author of several books on the Holy Communion. Best known of his books is probably "The Worship of the Church," one of the Seabury teaching series which interprets the origin, development and meaning of this great Christian service.

Dr. Shepherd has been on the faculty of the University of Chicago; Episcopal Theological Seminary, Cambridge, Mass., and is at present professor of Liturgics at the Church Divinity School of the Pacific. The lecture is open to the public.

Marinite Elected

Don Baldwin, 22, of San Rafael, recently was elected fellowship chairman of the general council, United Christian Youth Movement.

He is a son of Rev. D. H. Baldwin, minister of the San Rafael Methodist Church, and Mrs. Baldwin.

Frantic Finish Expected In Flag Scramble Tomorrow

Jack Meyer, a right-hander who's been a sore-arm guy with Philadelphia, hadn't been a winner in more than three months. Mostly a reliever, he hadn't pitched more than five innings in better than a year. He hadn't beaten Milwaukee in four years. But last night he had the Braves hangin' by their thumbs.

Behind Meyer's four-hit, 5⅔-inning shutout relief job, the last place Phillies beat the Braves and Lew Burdette 6-3 in the rain at Milwaukee, plunking them out of a first place tie with Los Angeles in the fast-closing National League race.

The Dodgers, now one game ahead with two to play, put away a 5-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs on Gil Hodges' 11th-inning home run and dandy relief work from Larry Sherry.

Los Angeles can nail the pennant today—if the Dodgers can couple victory over the Cubs with another victory by the Phils. A sweep of their two at Chicago and the Dodgers are home free, no matter what the Braves do today and tomorrow.

Southpaw Johnny Podres (14-8) was the Dodger choice today against Dave Hillman (7-11). The Braves shoot with Warren Spahn (20-15) against the Phils' Robin Roberts (15-16).

San Francisco? The third place Giants trail by 2½ and still have three to play after last night's rain out at St. Louis. It's Sam Jones (20-15) and Jack Sanford (15-12)in a twi-night pair today against the Cards' Vinegar Bend Mizell (13-9) and Larry Jackson (13-13).

The Phillies made it four in a row over Burdette, the 21-game winner who hasn't beaten them since May 22. They scored twice in the first and then tagged the big right-hander with his 15th defeat in a four-run third capped by Gene Freese's 22nd homer, with two on.

Freese knocked in four runs and Ed Bouchee the other two, all off Burdette.

Hodges, who hit his 25th homer off losing reliever Bill Henry, gave the Dodgers a 4-2 lead with a two-out, two-run double in the sixth. But homers by Sammy Taylor, in the seventh off starter Don Drysdale, and Ernie Banks, in the eighth off Danny McDevitt, gave the Cubs their third tie of the game. It was Banks' 45th, tying Mathews for the major league home run lead.

Sherry (6-2) came on in the 10th with two on and one out—and fanned Banks and got Walt Moryn on a grounder. He retired Al Dark on a pop up and struck out pinch-hitter Dale Long to end it in the 11th with the tying run on second.

49ers Open With Eagles Tomorrow

The San Francisco 49ers and Philadelphia Eagles open the National Football League season tomorrow on an optimistic note, but most likely little chance of going anywhere.

Both posted 2-4 exhibition records.

"We're more likely to finish first than last," said Red Hickey, starting his first season as 49er head coach.

"We're still building but improved over last season," commented Eagle Coach Buck Shaw.

The 49ers, a Western Division club, finished 6-6 last season, the Eagles, in the Eastern section, 2-9-1.

Two of the games' great passers, 49er Y. A. Tittle and Eagle Norm Van Brocklin, do the pitching in the opener before an expected 45,000 in Kezar Stadium. Kickoff time is 1:30 p.m.

Van Brocklin will be throwing to Tommy McDonald, a halfback who caught 30 during the exhibition campaign, plus ends Bobby Walston, Ken McAfee and Dick Bielski.

The 49ers will use veterans Joe Perry, Hugh McElhenny and R. C. Owens in the backfield and Clyde Conner, Billy Wilson and Fred Dugan at the ends.

The 49ers defensive backfield, however, is relatively new with rookies Dave Baker and Eddie Dove as the safety men and sophomore wingman Abe Woodson and Jerry Mortens.

San Francisco's defense, a trouble spot last season, should be improved by end Charlie Krueger and linebackers Bob Harrison and tackle Monte Clark.

Hickey yesterday picked up linebacker Clancy Osborne, a rookie from Arizona State at Tempe, but he is not likely to see action against the Eagles.

Novato Opens With 28-12 Triumph Over Healdsburg

Novato's Hornets hexed Healdsburg halfback Jim Underhill in the second half last night at Healdsburg to defeat the vaunted Greyhounds, 28-12, in Novato's opening game of the season.

Healdsburg scored first when Novato bobbled the short opening kickoff on the 50-yard line. Underhill scampered over with the first six-pointer of the evening six plays later after a flurry of Shelton-to-Underhill passes put the speedy halfback within scoring distance. The point after touchdown attempt failed.

However, the Hornets took the second kickoff and moved into a 7-6 lead in three plays when halfback John Picchi darted into the end zone from 25 yards out on an off-tackle slant.

With only five minutes of the first quarter gone, Novato scored again. It was almost a duplication of the first effort with Picchi crashing through off tackle from 15 yards out. The powerful halfback then added the extra point through the line.

The Hornets recovered a Greyhound fumble to set up their second score.

With more Underhill and Virgil running, and Shelton-Underhill passes, Healdsburg drove to its second and final TD early in the second quarter. Underhill again went over for the payoff.

Novato, however, was knocking again as the half ended. Long runs by Picchi, Dan Parr and Dennis McCormick had moved the ball to the Greyhound one-yard line when the gun sounded.

The belly series worked well a tried and true ground game.

for the Hornets as the third quarter got underway. Parr went over midway in the quarter from ten yards out.

McCormick crashed through for the third extra point.

Parr got loose again for six points halfway through the fourth quarter. The fleet halfback swept wide around his own right end for the touchdown, and McCormick tacked on the extra point in a plunge.

Quarterbacks Jud Bird and Bob Sparrow moved the Hornets with finesse throughout the evening as Novato stayed with

Redwood In 13-12 Win Over Edison

By GLENN BECKER

The Redwood Giants opened the new football season last night with a grueling 13-12 victory over Edison High School at Stockton.

An extra point conversion after Redwood's second touchdown, by halfback Curtis Embry, was the margin of victory.

Embry, who had set up the touchdown with a fine 21-yard scamper around right end to the Edison five, skirted the same flank for the extra point.

The Giants capitalized on an Edison fumble on the second play of the game for their first score. Ben Chollar recovered the loose ball on the Edison 13-yard line.

On Redwood's first play from scrimmage, Embry ran the right end to score. The conversion kick was much too low and the Giants led, 6-0.

The extra point try was so bad, Redwood decided to run it over after the next touchdown—a decision that spelled victory.

The Edison Vikings took the following kickoff on their own 35 and in 14 plays, all but one a line smash, tied the score. Quarterback Sammy Arong, after a beautiful fake, bootlegged around right end for the score. The conversion run failed.

After the following kickoff, Redwood was unable to gain, and Quarterback Bob Ostaggi punted. He was roughed up, however, and the ensuing 15-yard penalty, gave Redwood a first down on the Edison 48.

After two plays lost nine yards, an 18-yard Ostaggi pass to Mike Hoffman put Redwood on the 39, fourth down and one to go.

Their big dependable fullback Sam Williams, bulled down to the 35 and the Giants were in business again. After Ostaggi was dropped for a three-yard loss, and had a pass batted away, Embry ran the right end again for 13 yards—just missing the first down.

Again the Giants were faced with a fourth-down situation and again they called on Williams. This time the big fullback was good for five and the first down at the 20.

A backfield in motion penalty set the stage for Embry's 21-yard gallop to the four. Williams took it over for the TD.

Redwood was still not up to withstanding the Viking ground attack, however, and 20 plays later Edison closed the gap to 13-12.

There it stood, though, as an Arong pass for the tying conversion failed.

Despite repeated Edison threats to take the lead, the Giant line—especially Mike Hoffman, Ben Chollar, Scott Zimmerman, Don Meyers and Rick Weil stood off the Vikings to hang up the win.

Ray Edwards Sparkles In Tam Triumph

By DICK POWERS

Tamalpais High School's amazing Ray Edwards romped to two touchdowns yesterday afternoon, giving the Mill Valley preps their opening grid contest of the season, 13-7, over South San Francisco on the Mill Valley field.

Edwards, Tam's top track and field man, opened the game on the second scrimmage play with an 83-yard jaunt around left end, capped his performance with another sparkling TD run eight minutes into the final quarter, that came when quarterback Hinky Kreuter tossed a 10-yard pass to him, and he raced another 83 yards for the TD. Key blocks by Scott Alexander and ElCartio Barnes opened the holes for the speedy Edwards.

The Indians held a 7-0 halftime lead, with South San Francisco hitting the scoreboard with four minutes remaining in the third stanza.

San Francisco recovered a Tam fumble on the Indian's 15-yard stripe, going over six plays later. Tam's strong line held the opponents for three plays, but quarterback Clyde Haddock went around right end for the two-yard score. He again raced over for the one-pointer.

PASS FOR PAT

Tam's extra point came after Edwards' first run, when Kreuter passed to Pete Dornbach.

Jim Hanretty, head mentor of the Mill Valley preps, was happy over the first game results, singling out Bob Hector, Scott Alexander, David Broome, Jerry Williams, Morris Roan and Edwards for their fine defensive and offensive play.

Edwards' outstanding play netted him 194 yards for the day, 101 on the ground, and 93 in the air.

Kreuter, playing his first game as a varsity starter, hit two of six passes via the air route for 114 yards.

Tam takes on the Napa Indians next Saturday night at Kentfield.

THRILLING MARIN GRID OPENER

San Rafael Edges Wildcats In Final Minute, 13 To 6

By JIM GILMARTIN

San Rafael's Bulldogs apparently have found the key to success. Travis Key is his name.

And with him the Bulldogs locked up their first football victory of the new Marin County Athletic League—a dramatic 13-6 conquest of Marin Catholic before a crowd of approximately 4,700 fans at San Rafael's Stadium last night.

Tied up at 6-6 with only one minute and six seconds left to play, the Bulldogs were 56 yards away from scoring territory when they unleashed Key, a 5-foot-11 inch, 195 bundle of fury. Quarterback Billy Knopf lobbed him a five-yard swing pass to the right and Travis stormed the remaining 51 yards to break open this tight battle. Key credited the "whole line" for swinging him loose, particularly guard Steve Marks who administered the key block.

Key, a star guard for the past two seasons, is being "tested" at fullback and he responded with flying colors, showing amazing speed for a man his size. He carried on eight rushing plays and netted 25 yards, many of them crucial, for he personally picked up three first downs. The stocky back also had a nifty 13-yard touchdown run nullified in the third quarter.

Key's winning touchdown jaunt was a cruel blow to the stunned Wildcats who just three minutes earlier saw an almost certain winning touchdown slip from their arms.

PASS CLICKED

On a desperate fourth down and 10 yards to go situation, the Wildcats clicked on a 33-yard, Ron Blum to Mike McCraw pass to the Bulldog two. An end sweep netted nothing, but on second down quarterback Blum had the ball knocked from his arms with Bulldog end Randy Petrini falling on it on the three, smashing Marin's last hope for victory.

From there, with Ron Rosa, Billy Roberts and Key ripping off yardage in a race against the clock, the Bulldogs moved out to their own 44 from where they sent Key off on his winning gallop.

San Rafael opened the scoring in the second quarter, taking a punt on Marin's 34 and marching to pay dirt in seven plays, capped by Billy Roberts' six-yard dash off right tackle.

He and Ron Rosa alternated in lugging the pigskin in the 34-yard march. Roberts' attempted run for the point after TD was smothered.

MARIN SCORES

Marin tied it up after taking the ensuing kickoff and marching 54 yards in 14 plays. McGraw, Blum, Jerry Crowe and John Hendrickson took turns ripping off yardage until Blum crashed over from the two. Alan Bovee's attempted kick for the PAT was blocked by Dean Steuer.

And that's the way they stayed—6-6—until the final minute. After Key scored, the Wildcats still had some fight left and brought the SRO crowd to its feet when Hendrickson returned the kickoff 39 yards to San Rafael's 41. Hendrickson then gained 11, but the threat went up in smoke when a Hendrickson pass was intercepted by—yep, Key—as the final gun sounded.

Scoring by quarters:

Marin Catholic	0	6	0	0	6
San Rafael	0	6	0	7	13

Marin TD—Ron Blum, two-yard run.

San Rafael scoring: TDs—Billy Roberts, six-yard run; Travis Key, 56-yard pass from Billy Knopf.

PAT—Tay Johnston, pass from Knopf.

Officials: Referee Mike Convis, Wisconsin State; Umpire Ted Mitchell, San Francisco State; Head Linesman Jack Hanley, University of San Francisco.

Drake Meets Analy Eleven

Drake High School Pirates, who haven't tasted a varsity football victory since the 1957 season, travel to Sebastopol tonight to play the Analy Tigers starting a 8 o'clock.

SWIMMING POOL OWNERS

IF you use CHLORINE in ANY FORM it will pay you to look into the NEW CLORESE METHOD of AUTOMATIC CHLORINATION.

The work usually associated with chlorination has been virtually reduced to zero by this new development. In addition a substantial reduction in your pool operating expenses may be expected RIGHT FROM THE START.

There is no equipment to buy. Less than $2.00 a month rents the entire chlorinator system. It provides automatic chlorination daily plus super chlorination every two weeks (or as desired) completely automatically.

Play Program To Open Monday In San Rafael

The fall recreation program of the San Rafael Recreation and Park Department will open Monday. It will close Dec. 21.

Playgrounds offering sports, games and special events are:

Albert Park, Monday through Friday from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Davidson School, Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Santa Venetia School, Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Recreation specialists will conduct activities at Coleman, Hartzell, San Pedro, MacPhail, West End, Laurel Dell, Sun Valley, E Street and Short elementary schools. Dates will be announced later.

Touch football for boys 12 and under, and 14 and under will be played week days at Santa Venetia and Davidson schools. Sign-up is the week of Oct. 5. The 16-year-old and under games will be played Saturdays at Davidson.

FREE INSTRUCTION

Tennis for boys and girls will be offered at Albert Park each Wednesday, 3:30 to 5:30 p.m., with free instruction. Age groups are 7 to 9, 8 to 12 and 13 and over. Students may sign up at the first lesson Oct. 10 for the six week program.

Badminton for adults will be held at Davidson gym from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Players must bring their own equipment.

Basketball men's league begins Dec. 2 and the youth league for boys 12, 14, 16 and 18 and under will begin Jan. 4.

Physical fitness classes for boys and girls will be held each Saturday at noon for 7 to 12-year-olds at San Rafael High School. Sign-up date is Oct. 3.

SLIM-TRIM CLASS

Slim-trim class in physical fitness for women will open Monday, Oct. 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the San Rafael High School old gym. The recreation office is taking advance registration for the six-week course.

Baton twirling for girls will be held at Santa Venetia School Monday and Wednesday, and at E Street School on Tuesday and Thursday, beginning Oct. 19.

Junior deb charm classes, good grooming for junior high school age girls will be held at Davidson School, dates to be announced later.

SOCIAL NIGHTS

Social and game nights for junior teen-agers will be held Tuesdays at Santa Venetia School and Thursday evenings at Davidson, starting Oct. 5.

Senior teen dances have been scheduled throughout the year.

Five special events also have been planned as follows:

Pigskin Pete, Oct. 17; tetherball contest, week of Nov. 9; hoop shoot contest, week of Dec. 7; Christmas basketball, Dec. 28-30, and a yo-yo contest, week of Jan. 11.

Mosk Speaks To Civil Liberty Unit

State Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk described a new section of his office, the Constitutional Rights Section, at the potluck dinner and meeting of the Marin Chapter, American Civil Liberties Union, at the Roger Kent estate in Kentfield last night.

The meeting marked the 25th year of the ACLU in Northern California and the fifth year for the sponsoring Marin chapter.

Mosk explained that Franklin Williams heads the new section, and that persons with complaints against violators of the Fair Employment Practices law should come to him. Action against such violators, Mosk said, must come from the attorney general's office.

"We hope and think that such cases will be few," Mosk told the approximately 400 persons gathered from Marin, the East Bay and San Francisco.

Special guests were Mrs. Mosk and Deputy Atty. Gen. and Mrs. Richard Rogan.

Roger Kent welcomed the ACLU and the attorney general, and Dr. Alfred Azevedo of Tiburon introduced the speaker.

Dr. Azevedo also outlined the 25-year history of the ACLU.

Charges Dropped Against Pair Who Aided Elopement

Sarah and Otis Holmes of Contra Costa County were freed in Marin Superior Court yesterday of charges they had contributed to the delinquency of a 15-year-old Ross girl by helping her elope with Mrs. Holmes' son, Jack Watson Jr., last November.

Judge Thomas F. Keating decided there is no evidence to show Mrs. Holmes violated any law. He further ruled that Holmes may have committed an unlawful act, but evidence was not sufficient to show any unlawful act had been committed in Marin County.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety said evidence showed Mr. and Mrs. Holmes drove her 20-year-old son and the girl to Sacramento. From there, the girl took a bus to Reno, while Holmeses and Watson drove ahead and waited for the girl.

Young Watson and the girl got a stranger from the streets to pose as the girl's father and got married. The marriage was later annulled in Marin Superior Court.

Bolinas Harbor Study End Near

Engineering studies on a proposed Bolinas small craft harbor are nearly completed, president Gene McDaniel told a meeting of Bolinas Harbor District officers Thursday night at Stinson Beach.

A progress report from John A. Blume and Associates of San Francisco, project engineers, produced a series of overlay maps of the area depicting a general layout looking toward best region of the region.

McDaniel said a series of test borings and a cost analysis will be the next steps in the study.

School Trains Pilots For Crop-Dusting

MINDEN, Nev. (AP) — Will many already competent pilots pay up to $1,250 to learn crop-dusting, fraught with the perils of low flying and toxic sprays?

The Agricultural Aviation Institute thinks they will. In its first few months of operation at Douglas-Tahoe Airport the school has graduated 40 aerial applicators. Ten more are in training.

"There are about 3,000 crop dusters in the country today, mostly oldtimers, but there's room for nearly 6,000," says Murray A. Kahn, a 30-year veteran flier who heads the school.

"A good hard-working aerial applicator pilot can make from $15,000 to $20,000 per year, working from 9 to 10 months. In areas with a shorter season, he can make from $6,000 to $8,000 in three months.

"Crop-dusters make good money because they're a vanishing breed. Most of the pioneers are still carrying the load, men in their fifties, even sixties."

"Younger pilots coming out of the Air Force are schooled in jets but know very little of piston-type aircraft," he explains.

"And the average flier does not know enough about insect and weed sprays or state laws to pass the aerial applicator examinations."

The 800-acre airport east of Lake Tahoe is 4,700-feet above sea level. The rarified air is a challenge. The field was purchased two years ago by Turbo Dynamics Corp., an aluminum products firm which operates in Los Angeles and Maryland.

Only commercially licensed pilots with a minimum of 500 hours of solo time are accepted as students. Even with such qualifications, the applicant must pass a stiff flying test.

The $1,250 buys a six-week ground course and 32 hours of flying instruction.

Kahn's instructors teach about agricultural chemicals, crop pests, elements of entomology, safe handling of dangerous chemicals, and such flying maneuvers as swath runs, pull ups, flat runs, flagging, vortices and effects, spraying, dusting, seeding and fertilizing.

His seven planes range from 450-horsepower Stearman trainers to super Pipers and open cockpit aircraft.

"Anyone who tries agricultural flying without formal training is heading for disaster," Kahn warns. "But it's not dangerous when you know how."

"Flying the plane is only a secondary problem: There are trees, unseen wires across the fields, poor visibility . . . and the chemicals.

"Ours is the largest of the very few aerial applicator schools in the country. It has been approved by the Veterans Administration but the GI Bill for flight training is expiring."

Kahn reminds that an airplane can drop chemicals on forests, rough terrain and irrigated fields or crops with heavy foliage that would snag a ground machine.

And it doesn't trample valuable crops.

Hub Pupils' Play Program Announced

An after-school recreation program for San Anselmo school pupils has been started at four playgrounds from 3:15 to 5 p.m. on various days of the week.

The program for boys, at all four playgrounds, includes basketball, softball, ping pong, tetherball and six-man football. The same program, except for football, is available for girls, announced by Frank L. Quinn, superintendent of parks and recreation.

The playgrounds and the days they are in operation under supervision are: Memorial Park and Isabel Cook School, Monday through Friday; Wade Thomas School, Monday through Thursday; Brookside School, Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

Tennis classes are also offered to girls Mondays and Wednesdays from 3:15 to 5 p.m. at Memorial Park. Tennis classes for boys will be announced next month, said Quinn.

Six-man football teams are to be organized at each playground in grades five through eight. All games will be played at Memorial Park. Uniforms and equipment will be supplied by the recreation department.

The programs are being offered in cooperation with the San Anselmo School District, Quinn said.

Mill Valley School Board To Discuss Educational TV

An evaluation of educational television programs is slated to be a major item at Monday night's meeting of the Mill Valley School District trustees to be held at the district office at 8 p.m.

The discussion will be presented by a panel headed by Asst. Supt. Logan T. Miles and consisting of teachers Esther Hessel, Barbara Wilson and Walter Zander.

A. E. Kent School To Host Parents

Back to School Night for parents of Adaline E. Kent School children will be Monday from 7:30 to 9 p.m., according to Principal Anthony Bacich.

Brochures outlining objectives of each grade level will be explained by the teachers in individual classrooms. Daily schedules will also be discussed. P-TA membership cards may be bought at tables outside each classroom.

McCarthy Dodges Question Of Supporting Rockefeller

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — State Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael) said yesterday Nelson Rockefeller "would be a great president" but hedged on unofficial reports he may organize a California delegation pledged to the New York governor in the 1960 Republican presidential race.

The Republican state senate floor leader said no movement to date had begun in an effort to try to swing a Rockefeller delegation behind Rockefeller. McCarthy did not rule out the possibility that he might break with the regular GOP organization in a possible shift to the New York governor's camp.

McCarthy and former Lt. Gov. Harold (Butch) Powers returned recently from New York conferences with Rockefeller and his top political advisors. "I was very impressed with Gov. Rockefeller," McCarthy said.

Any serious move by California Republican leaders to support the New York governor undoubtedly would trigger a bitter intra-party fight with supporters of Vice President Nixon, native of California and oftmentioned front-runner for the GOP presidential nomination.

Rock Falls, Breaks Leg Of Workman

Edward Sieber Jr., 33, Fairfax construction worker, was in San Rafael General Hospital today with a fracture of the right leg suffered when a large rock fell on him inside a deep trench north of San Rafael Thursday.

Sieber, who works for Cervantes and Son of San Rafael, gave his address as Box 444, Fairfax. Sheriff's deputies said he was inside a trench 12 feet deep, working on a sewer line about 200 yards north of Oliver Hartzell School in San Rafael Meadows.

S. H. Cervantes, Sieber's brother-in-law, told officers a large rock dislodged and hit the victim.

Assessor, Aide To Attend Meet

Marin County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel and his chief assistant, Herschel W. Johnson, will attend a statewide conference in San Diego beginning Monday.

The state Board of Equalization is sponsoring the four-day conference of county assessors from throughout the state.

News For Nikita: Elevators In Soviet Russia Act Up Too

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev got stuck in an elevator at the extremely capitalistic Waldorf - Astoria hotel in New York last week and had to climb five flights. The Soviet Premier grinningly called it "a capitalistic malfunction" but perhaps he hadn't read Izvestia lately.

Here is what the Soviet government newspaper said about Soviet elevators on May 29:

"Vertical transportation is causing people more trouble than any form of transport on a horizontal level.

"Many elevators in Moscow, Leningrad, Kiev, Kharkov and Tiflis are made on a long ago outdated pattern.

"They are often out of function. You step in and you can't get down. You wait and it never comes."

Moreover, said the paper, the new elevators are not much better. It noted that the government company "Sojuzlift" had been requested to construct a modern type of elevator.

"Toward the end of 1957 the new lift was ready for trial," Izvestia went on. "Specialists had serious complaints to make about the new elaborate construction, which as often as the old one will be out of function.

"And to add to all this it is very expensive."

Izvestia said you can find the new elevators in Moscow — not working.

"They rarely function. In the southwest of the capital tenants have to walk up the stairs in blocks of flats 8 to 9 floors high with hatred in their eyes as they pass the dead elevators."

This seems, however, to have had little effect. On July 8 Izvestia carried a new article under the headline: "Sad signs: the lift out of function."

The article read: "We still don't have good, comfortable and cheap elevators. 'Sojuzlift' is responsible. It has started production of a new construction which is more complicated, more expensive and more annoying than the old ones. The Karahovsky works continue to turn out the new model, in spite of many complaints.

"There are many government offices involved, which is hindering progress.

"We need at last a modern lift. The present type is useless, undependable and often out of function. It cannot carry people down or up."

Disc Jockey's Mom Pays Speed Fine

Mrs. Inga Fern Cohelan, 66, of Fairfax, mother of television and radio personality Don Sherwood, paid a $25 fine yesterday for speeding.

She had originally been charged with drunken driving when arrested by Fairfax police Sept. 7. That charge was dropped yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on the recommendation of the district attorney because a blood alcohol test indicated she was not intoxicated. The test showed an alcohol content of only .098. A new complaint accused Mrs. Cohelan of speeding.

She pleaded innocent to this charge and submitted the matter to Judge Harold J. Haley for a decision. The judge found her guilty. Attorney Harry Wainwright represented Mrs. Cohelan.

Should Teacher Slap Children? Mother Teach Reading At Home?

S.F.C. "Is it right for a teacher to slap children? My son says his teacher slapped six boys today and two girls. Slapped them hard. She has a bad counted the slaps at school. He disposition. The children hate her. Is this good?"

Reply. No it isn't. If your son is reporting accurately I can only say I'm sorry. The teacher is making mistakes. Her ways of punishing are too strong. She prevents learning instead of helping it. I suggest you talk with your principal about this. He may be able to change things.

E.F.T. "My girl is in first grade. I have been teaching her to read. Her teacher called and asked me not to. She says I'm confusing my girl. Should I stop?"

Reply. Probably you should. Methods of teaching reading have changed since you were in school. The teacher is trained for the job. She's the expert. Let her do the teaching.

L.R. "My boy isn't much good at games. During the noon hour at school he likes to run around, but not play ball. However there are rules against what he does. No matter how much of a fool he makes of himself, he must play ball. Isn't that unwise?"

Reply. Maybe, and maybe not. Is the school a large one? With limited playground space? In such schools the teachers find they must schedule every child's activity. Children can't be free to run around. If they do they hurt each other. Have you talked with the principal about this? He'll explain. Perhaps he could arrange for games your boy would enjoy.

its two and one-fourth million people.

Hagerty said that the two world leaders were "seriously and honestly talking and trying to lay it out on the table."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who debated with Khrushchev in Moscow during the summer, was summoned by Eisenhower to join today's discussions.

ADVISERS

Chairman John A. McCone of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission was expected to take part. He and his Soviet opposite number, V. A. Emelyanov, have already laid the groundwork for an Eisenhower-Khrushchev agreement on an exchange of information about development of atomic power plants—a potential new venture in Soviet-American cooperation. Visits of scientists working on the peaceful uses of atomic energy may also be arranged.

Much spadework is also reported on expanding exchanges of visits between the United States and the Soviet Union by experts in education, industry and medicine.

If Eisenhower and Khrushchev can make any headway at all in their discussions of the critical Berlin dispute, the Camp David meeting may also produce a recommendation to Britain and France that a new meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers on Berlin should be called in the next few months.

Change In Cast For Ross Player Production Made

Roland Irving of Terra Linda has replaced Bernard O'Kane in the cast of the Ross Valley Players' production of "The Rainmaker," announced Al Spalding of Ross, production chairman. O'Kane was forced to withdraw because of an out-of-town business trip.

Irving will play the part of File, the moody deputy sheriff whose road to happiness appears blocked by his determination to be independent.

He was last seen as Sergeant King in "No Time for Sergeants" and before that he had the lead in "The Desperate Hours" and an original one-act play.

Under direction of Cliff Badger of Mill Valley, "The Rainmaker" will open Oct. 22 for a four-weekend run at the Barn of Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross.

Advance reservations and ticket sales are being handled by the Orrick Travel Bureau, San Anselmo.

Hub School Board To Eye Hiring Of Superintendent

A suggested screening procedure for hiring a superintendent will be discussed by the San Anselmo School District board at 8 p.m. Monday in Isabel Cook School faculty room.

Sample job specifications also will be discussed. The confederation of San Anselmo, Kentfield and Fairfax School Districts is to end next June and each will hire its own superintendent.

Also on the agenda are progress reports on the tax increase effort and educational questionnaire, the employment of a first grade teacher, a review of the manual for administrative rules and regulations, an enrollment report and progress report on grass and sprinkler installation at Hidden Valley School.

Plant Hit Twice

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A small manufacturing plant was broken into twice in one weekend—the second time by thieves who apparently didn't know that others had been there first.

Police said robbers broke a window and attempted unsuccessfully to burn and batter a safe open. They left their tools behind. After police investigated this incident a door was broken open and a quantity of equipment and merchandise was taken.

Bugle Goes Electronic

FT. HUACHUCA, Ariz. (AP)—This being an Army electronics proving ground, the old-fashioned bugler naturally wouldn't do. Each morning and evening the notes are sounded by a record player operated by a time clock.

MR WILSON HAS HIS SHARE OF TROUBLE

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—L. G. Wilson figures he has had his share of trouble lately.

On July 21, he was hit with a bottle.

On July 25, he was cut with a knife.

On Sept. 1, he was hit with a brick.

Yesterday he was released from a hospital after being treated for a gunshot wound in the leg.

San Rafael Youth In Hospital After Rampage

Donald M. Frailey, who admitted earlier this month setting fire to a San Rafael police cruiser, went beserk at his Blossom drive home early today, destroying furniture and slashing his wrists with a kitchen knife, San Rafael police said.

Police answered a call to 15 Blossom drive from the youth's mother, Mrs. Virginia M. Frailey at 1:30 a.m. today.

Mrs. Frailey told investigating officers Leo Schwab and Thomas Stephenson her son had threatened to kill himself with the kitchen knife, then had locked himself in his room.

All was quiet, police reported, and they left.

They answered a second call to the address at about 3 a.m. when they found the youth lying on a bathroom floor with his wrists cut. A knife was on the floor beside him, they reported.

He was taken by ambulance to Marin General Hospital, where he was treated for multiple cuts on both wrists. He later was transferred to Ross General Hospital where he was reported in good condition.

Young Frailey, son of Melvin C. Frailey, vice president of Western Greyhound Lines and formerly of Marin County, pleaded guilty Sept. 3 to malicious mischief for his part in throwing a burning flare in a San Rafael police car Aug. 26.

The police car was gutted by the resulting blaze.

Patrolmen Schwab and Stephenson reported many beer cans strewn about the Blossom drive residence.

FALL WEATHER UPS PLASTIC BAG MENACE

CHICAGO (UPI) — The plastic bag menace and autumn go hand in hand, an American Medical Assn. publication warns.

According to the magazine (Today's Health) when fall clothes are taken out of storage, the plastic cleaning bags covering them are brought out of the closet and put within easy reach of children.

Scores of children have died of suffocation this year when the plastic bags were pulled over their heads or came into contact with their faces.

Mill Valley Area Crusade Head Appointed

Mrs. Robert B. Lashly of 226 Manor drive, Mill Valley, has been named United Bay Area Crusade chairman for the greater Mill Valley area in the annual fund drive beginning Oct. 14.

Mrs. Lashly represents Sunny Hills Junior Auxiliary, a United Crusade - supported agency, which provides therapy and group living for children of broken homes. Persons wishing to aid the fund drive in the Mill Valley area may contact Mrs. Lashly at her home.

Women Voters To Eye Foreign Aid

The Mill Valley League of Women Voters will begin a series of discussions on various phases of foreign aid at unit meetings to be held Monday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Members of the league's foreign policy workshop leading discussions will be Mesdames Gwen Peticolas, Herbert Lawrence and John Oliver.

Tomorrow's meeting will be at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Peticolas, 196 W. Blithedale avenue. The Wednesday meeting will be at 9:45 a.m. at the home of Mrs. S. I. Hayakawa, 225 Eldridge avenue.

The Belvedere unit, new this fall, will meet Thursday at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Benton Matthews at 53 Peninsula road, Belvedere.

Show Entries To Close Oct. 19

Marin County artists who want to display their work in the sixth annual art and craft exhibit of the Marin Jewish Community Center may obtain entry blanks at art stores or from the center, 1618, Mission avenue, San Rafael, it was announced today.

The exhibit is scheduled Nov. 7-15. Original work in any media—oil, water color, tempera, sculpture, photography or others — will be accepted. Entry blanks must be mailed to the center no later than Oct. 19.

School Has Changed

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Dean Edward F. Overton of the University of Richmond says the concept of summer school has undergone great change. At one time it was considered remedial work for academic deficiencies but summer school now is filled with young people in a hurry to graduate.

Drunk Driving Fine Assesed

Frank Leslie Winter, 51-year-old San Rafael auto salesman, paid a $250 fine yesterday for drunken driving.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court also put Winter on nine months' probation and ordered his driving restricted for the next six months.

Winter, who lives at 105 Gloria drive, San Rafael, was caught on Highway 101 in San Rafael last Sept. 8.

On Wednesday, Judge Haley sentenced Freeman Marshall Owens, 26, of 24 Buena Vista, San Anselmo, to 30 days in county jail. The judge recommended Owens be given work furlough privileges. Owens was caught driving while intoxicated last Tuesday on Sycamore avenue, San Anselmo.

Boy Scout Rally Set For Oct. 10-11

Boy Scout troops of the central district, Marin Council, will participate in a district Round-Up Rally Oct. 10 and 11 at Camp Tamarancho.

The program will include Scoutcraft contests, campfire activity, patrol competition and recognition for ratings received in events. Directing the rally will be district camping committee chairman Bob Stickney and district activities chairman Frank Soldavini.

Each patrol has been asked to invite one new boy of scout age as a guest for the weekend.

Bolinas Group Elects Officers

Officers and directors were elected by the Bolinas Community Inc. at a meeting last night at the Bolinas community center.

Re-elected were Thomas J. Barfield as president, Jack Lowe, vice president, and Hurford Sharon, treasurer. Charles L. Pepper was elected secretary.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

L W O D K W E Y J W N R M Q K W N Y A W Y G Q C A W Y — R Y J A Q N Y D Y M Y W L F - H R H W N F — H U D O O D H F.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: GREAT IS TRUTH. FIRE CANNOT BURN NOR WATER DOWN IT — DUMAS.

Bank Executive Wife Released From Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Atlantic Cencio, of Petaluma, continued their vacation today after being discharged from the Carson-Tahoe hospital in Nevada where they were treated for a mysterious stomach disorder.

Cencio, 59, who was a kidnap victim recently when his Point Reyes Station Bank of America branch was robbed, and his wife, 51, were found unconscious Thursday in a Lake Tahoe motel room.

Doctors treated the couple for "acute gastroenteritis, cause of which was undetermined."

Mrs. Cencio said they became ill after eating dinner at a nightclub and returned to the motel. She said her husband became unconscious and she lost consciousness while trying to help him.

They were apparently in good health when they were released from the hospital here yesterday.

Dinner Honoring Rep. Miller To Be Held Oct. 12

Rep. Chester Bowles (D-Conn) will be guest speaker Oct. 12 at the Corte Madera Recreation Center at a dinner honoring Rep. Clement W. Miller of Corte Madera of the 1st Congressional District.

Previously it had been reported that the dinner would be Oct. 10. It will be Miller's first full-scale visit to his home district since his election last November.

Organ Studio To Hold Open House

Open house Oct. 4 from noon to 7 p.m. will mark the opening of the Baldwin Organ Teaching Studio, 38 Millwood avenue, Mill Valley.

On the teaching staff for beginning and advanced students will be Mrs. Audrey Gosser, who has had her own studio in Mill Valley; Mrs. Grace Tryner, organist and choir director at Mt. Carmel Church in Mill Valley for seven years, and Steve Johnson, who is music director for the Gate Theater in Sausalito.

Forgetfulness

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A Richmond man remembered his wedding anniversary, but he forgot an important detail. Postmaster Fergus McRee says he will return to the husband who can make proper identification an unaddressed envelope he dropped into the mail. The envelope contained a $20 bill, a fourth wedding anniversary card and this note: "To my darling wife who deserves more but reserves ain't got it."

Dorothy I. Doyle Dies In Hospital

Mrs. Dorothy I. Doyle of 931 San Anselmo avenue, San Anselmo, a resident of Marin County for the past 19 years, died early today in a local hospital. She was 52.

She was admitted to the hospital yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Doyle was the widow of the late Clarence O. Doyle. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Beverly Ongaro of Belvedere, and a son, Malcolm, at home.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

Ex-Presidents Of Kiwanis Honored

Nine past presidents of the Kiwanis Club of San Rafael received plaques from district secretary Fred Kistemann during the 10th anniversary banquet and charter night program last Saturday at the Meadow Club, Fairfax.

All are still active members, except Sheldon Jackson of Visalia, former Marin County farm adviser. Plaques were presented to Jackson, Truel Tourtellotte, Judge Richard M. Sims, Harold Keaton, Clarence DeLong, Joseph Soldavini, John Rockwell, Rolf Croker and S. Jack Cimino.

Lecture In Bolinas

How spiritual awakening makes life more meaningful will be the topic of a free public lecture on Christian Science to be given Oct. 3 in Bolinas by Robert Dolling Wells of Seattle.

Wells, a member of The Christian Science board of lectureship, will speak in Bolinas Community Center at 3 p.m.

Little Theater To Hold Play Tryouts

Tryouts for Arthur Miller's "The Crucible," second production in Sausalito Little Theater's current season, will be held at the theater Oct. 7-8, according to Dr. Earle Marsh of Mill Valley, who will direct.

The show is scheduled to open Jan. 29.

The play calls for a cast of 11 men, 10 women and five girls of ages from 13 to 20. It will be presented in the round, with sets depicting the old Salem Meeting House famed as the locale of the historic witchcraft trials.

The theater's first production of the season, "Time of Your Life," is completing rehearsals in preparation for its Oct. 16 opening.

Marin Artists Win Festival Awards

Three Marin County craft artists received awards Thursday in the 13th annual San Francisco Arts Festival.

Municipal purchase awards went to Ida Grae of Mill Valley, weaving, black jute rug, $190, and to Mary Lindheim of Sausalito, mosaics, wall plaque titled "Moon at Low Tide," $60. Gerd Jakob of Sausalito received a craft award of merit for rug weaving.

The free arts festival is held at Civic Center, in the Fulton Street Mall bounded by Hyde and Larkin streets. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. through the closing day, tomorrow.

ALMANAC

Today is Saturday, Sept. 26, the 269th day of the year, with 96 more days to follow in 1959.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this date in history:

In 1777, British troops occupied Philadelphia in the American Revolution.

In 1831, the first political party convention on a national basis took place in Baltimore, where the anti-Masonic Party nominaed William Wirt for the presidency.

In 1888, poet T. S. Eliot was born in St. Louis.

In 1898, the American composer, George Gershwin, was born in Brooklyn, New York.

In 1945, constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech, freedom of the press and right to assembly were suspended in Argentina by executive decree.

In 1950, U.N. troops, captured Seoul, capital of South Korea.

A thought for today: T. S. Eliot wrote: "We know too much, and are convinced of too little. Our literature is a substitute for religion and so is our religion."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Gangster, Girl Slain

NEW YORK (AP)—Underworld kingpin Anthony (Little Augie) Pisano Carfano, 62, and a married beauty queen were shot to death last night in a flashy black Cadillac in a quietly substantial Queens neighborhood.

Carfano, the pudgy Prohibition era henchman of Al Capone and long-time buddy of Frank Costello, and Janice Drake, 32, who was married to comedian Allan Drake, were shot from the rear of the gangster's swanky car. She was Miss New Jersey of 1944.

Neighbors told police they saw two men flee from the car after they heard shots.

Shipyard Talks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Negotiators are to meet Monday in an attempt to settle the West Coast shipyard strike that has idled 15,000 workers.

Representatives of management and the Pacific Coast Metal Trades Council met yesterday but little was accomplished.

Files To Boards

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—Files on five San Mateo County teachers, compiled by the House Un-American Activities Committee, were turned over to their school boards yesterday.

Top Sculptor Dies

ROME (AP)—Ernest Wise Keyser, 83, internationally known sculptor of Atlantic Beach, Fla., died last night after a heart attack.

Karls Separate

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Harry Karl's marriage to the widow of movie mogul Harry Cohn lasted less than a month.

The millionaire shoe manufacturer and Joan Cohn announced yesterday they had separated.

16 in Plane Dead

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—A ground party which clawed its way up an unnamed peak in the wild Aleutian Islands yesterday reported that all 16 persons aboard had been killed when an airliner smashed into the mountain Thursday night.

U.S. Rockets Fizzle

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Three of America's most reliable rockets ran into trouble on opposite sides of Florida.

At Cape Canaveral, a Snark intercontinental range guided missile crashed and exploded on launching yesterday and a Nike-Cajun rocket veered off course, ruining an attempt to obtain the first pictures of a complete hurricane.

On Florida's West Coast, a range safety officer destroyed an errant Bomarc guided missile shortly after it was launched in an attempt to intercept a drone target. The Bomarc was fired from the Santa Rosa Test Center near Eglin Air Force Base.

Rockefeller In N.H.

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller arrived in this politically strategic state today for a whirlwind visit that touched off fresh speculation he would run for the Republican nomination for president.

There was widespread belief he was here to sound out opinion on his chances next March in the New Hampshire presidential primary, which will be the first in the nation next year.

Upside Down 17 Hours

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Howard Steelsmith, 75-year-old retired farm worker, was rescued yesterday after hanging upside down on a wire mesh fence for some 17 hours.

Steelsmith was conscious but unable to speak when found near his home in Fallowfield, Crawford County. He was listed in fair condition at a hospital here.

The elderly man apparently tried to climb over the fence Thursday afternoon. His foot became entangled and he fell backward.

Investigation Closed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Police have closed their investigation into the mystery surrounding Ferenc Iszak, Hungarian refugee leader found dazed Wednesday in Golden Gate Park.

Police Lt. Donald Scott said he found no reason for police action.

It was first believed Iszak had been beaten, but Scott said he was convinced no one had assaulted him.

Water Limit Urged

SACRAMENTO (AP)—An Assembly Water Committee member wants California to supply its irrigation water only to family farms.

The limit was suggested yesterday by Charles Garrigus (D-Reedley) during an Assembly Interim Water Committee hearing on the state's 1¾-billion-dollar water bond project.

The committee is studying the possibility of limiting the amount of land for which the state will sell irrigation water under the project, up for voter approval next November.

Typhoon Perils Japan

TOKYO (AP)—Japan battened down today for the biggest storm of the year as typhoon Vera bore down on the industrial area of south central Honshu.

Yanks In Laos

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Nine Americans already have gone to Laos to help found a group of American volunteer flyers for that Communist beset nation.

Police Chief Quits

SEASIDE (AP)—The Monterey County town of Seaside is looking for a new police chief.

Chief Raymond R. Rude, 34, resigned yesterday at the request of City Manager Gordon H. Howe.

Howe said Rude, chief of the 24-man force for three years, refused to resume a policy of one-man night patrol cars. He accused the chief of insubordination.

Rude said the men on night patrol were newcomers to the force and needed added protection.

Smog Session Asked

SAN JOSE (AP)—California's county supervisors want a special session of the Legislature on smog and indicated the lawmakers also should consider a gasoline tax increase to finance a 70,000-mile county road network.

Smog, getting worse despite abatement districts formed to control it, was a prime concern at the convention which ended last night.

San Rafael Author To Host Car Show

Edward Dolan, San Rafael author and former television personality, has been substituted for Dick Cook as master of ceremonies for the concourse d'elegance to be held tomorrow at Forest Meadows, Dominican College, the sponsoring Catholic Social Service announced today.

Cook found he had a previous commitment to appear at road races in Vacaville, the agency reported.

The show, which will include a variety of entertainment besides a large display of antique, classic, vintage and sports cars, will run from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Children under 10 years will be admitted free.

Car Strikes Fence

Dean Keith, 30, of San Francisco, was cited by Sausalito police at 1:40 a.m. yesterday for driving without due caution after his car tore out a length of fence on the Harold Purvis property on Alexander avenue, at the south entrance to the city.

Junior Museum Fair, Dance And Barbecue Set Oct. 10

Final plans for the Junior Museum Country Fair and Barbecue will be formulated at noon Tuesday at a meeting at King Cotton Restaurant, E. Bruce Barron, chairman of the event, said yesterday.

The country fair and barbecue dance will be held from 1 p.m. till midnight Oct. 10 at the Ralph Roy Ranch in San Geronimo to raise funds for the Junior Museum of Marin. Steak and chicken barbecue tickets may be purchased at the museum or at the fair.

The fair will present activities for the whole family. Helicopter, pony and burro rides, concessions, exhibitions of archery, Indian dancing, square dancing and skin diving equipment will be featured.

There will be music with Buddy Webber, KGO-TV disc jockey, as master of ceremonies.

The barbecue will start at 5 p.m.

Seminary Group On Annual Trek To Drake's Bay

Students of San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo, yesterday made their annual pilgrimage to Drake's Bay with Dr. Clifford M. Drury, professor of church history.

They viewed the stone cross marking the site of what is considered the first Protestant service conducted by an ordained minister on U.S. soil. The service was held in 1579 by Chaplain Francis Fletcher, who accompanied Sir Francis Drake.

The student body, faculty, guests, and Dr. Thomas Holden, president of the seminary's board of trustees, attended a reception Thursday night for president Theodore A. Gill.

A formal autumn convocation assembly will be held Wednesday at 10 a.m. in Stewart Memorial Chapel. President will preside and Dr. Aaron J. Ungersma will address the student body.

Santa Venetia Cubs

A potluck dinner for Club Scouts and their families will begin Pack 39 activties for the 1959-60 school year at 6:30 p.m. Monday in Santa Venetia School. Pack 39 is sponsored by the Gallinas Valley Lions Club under chairmanship of Tom Young. Chuck E. Fuller is cubmaster.

Women Voters To Discuss Observations

The San Anselmo League of Women Voters will discuss its program of observing elected bodies such as school boards and the county supervisors in action at a meeting Tuesday at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. James K. Brown, 40 Harcourt street, San Rafael.

Mrs. Henry Castor of Corte Madera will lead the discussion, which will also cover local, state and national issues on which the league has taken a stand.

A unit meeting on these subjects will be held Thursday at 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Thomas Gilboy, 11 Rancheria road, Kent Woodlands.

Another unit will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Ulrich Kraemer, 805 Penny Royal Lane, Terra Linda.

Workshops on foreign policy will be held Wednesday at 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. John Bissinger, 324 Palm avenue, Kentfield.

The next workshop on metropolitan Bay Area planning will be held Oct. 8 at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Charles Secor, 30 Palm avenue, Larkspur. Participants in a workshop, after reading and study, discuss and attempt to clarify areas of agreement on a subject.

Tideland Fill Permit Extended 3 Years

Paradise Park Investment Co. of San Rafael has received approval from the Army Corps of Engineers in San Francisco for a three-year extension of time on its permit to fill tidelots on the shore side of San Rafael-San Quentin road.

A spokesman for the engineers said that no objections to the application for time extension had been filed.

Larkspur TV Firm Plans Remodeling

A two-and-one-half month remodeling and expansiou project is scheduled to begin Monday at Dexter's Television and Radio Service in Larkspur.

The work will involve addition of a 1,600-square-foot second story, to be used for storage, and remodeling of the main showroom.

Located at 25 Ward street, the sales and service organigation is owned and managed by Oakley W. Dexter Jr. and his wife, Emma Done.

The couple went into business 12 years ago, utilizing only the front portion of their present building.

"Since then," said Dexter, "we've added everything we can on the ground floor. So, to get capacity, we are now going up.'"

Dexter's, which started with one service truck, now has five vehicles equipped with two-way radios for communication with the service department from all parts of the county.

A grand opening celebration early in December is planned for Dexter's "new look" store. The remodeling and expansion work will be done by contractors David B. McDougall of Larkspur and Charles M. Heiman of Corte Madera.

Dexter is president of the Larkspur Chamber of Commerce and Larkspur Lions Club.

Marinite At Travis

Army Pvt. Darrell E. DeMartini, son of Darrell P. DeMartini, 1428 Sir Francis Drake boulevard, San Anselmo, recently was assigned to the 61st Artillery at Travis Air Force Base.

Corte Madera Council To Hear Lagoon Report

A report on the flood control situation in Corte Madera's weed-choked lagoon No. 2 will be presented to the Corte Madera Town Council Monday night by Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow.

Waterfront home owners have asked the town to assist in clearing vegetation and debris from the lagoon. It is both a health and flood hazard in its present condition, the home owners declare.

The council is expected to award a contract for reconstruction of Willow avenue from Tamalpais drive to a point near Chapman drive. Brandow will open bids for the work at 3:30 p.m. Monday.

Scheduled for adoption is an ordinance expressing the town's intent to abandon part of its easement on Portola way, adjacent to a public stairway between Edison avenue and Crescent road. Mr. and Mrs. Warren D. Nash have requested the abandonment.

Brandow will ask the council to decide whether a building permit fee should be charged for construction of the new Montgomery Ward and Co. store at Corte Madera Shopping Center. The alternative is to deduct the $800 fee from a $3,313 debt the town purportedly owes Frank Rusalem, shopping center developer, for earth fill he placed on Tamalpais drive in 1946.

Fire Chief Frank L. Nelson will ask authorization to remove a column between archways in front of the town firehouse. Nelson said the column makes it difficult to park the town's new $19,000 fire truck in the apparatus room.

Not on the agenda, but expected to be discussed with a Marina Village delegation, is a budgeted item for construction of a levee on the west bank of San Clemente Creek. The Marina Village Improvement Club is asking revision of the plans.

The session will start at 8 o'clock in Corte Madera Town Hall.

Hub Parents Go 'Back To School'

More than 100 parents met their children's teachers Thursday night at the annual Back-to-School program at Wade Thomas School in San Anselmo.

Mrs. Marian Merritt, the new principal, was introduced. Philip Bundschu, one of the district trustees, explained to the parents the reasons for San Anselmo's decision to withdraw from the confederated districts and the costs which must be financed. An election on a 55-cent tax limit increase to be held Oct. 20.

Wesley Hull of 17 Brookmont court discussed the proposed program to provide departmentalized seventh and eighth grades.

MARIN FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

12:02 p.m., Tamalpais Valley—Illegal burning of trash at Main and Jean streets.

New Elegance In Home Furnishings

Heard The Latest Furnishing Trend?

The Fall Home Fashions of 1959 feature a variety of ideas in furniture, carpets, flooring, draperies and home decoration color schemes. Some are new and modern, others are adaptions of styles popular over the years.

MARIN IS a county of home owners, though its increasing number of apartment dwellers, too, seek the best in fine furniture and furnishings for their living areas.

This year in its Home Fashions edition the Independent-Journal presents a representative selection of what is available to the Marin family to make life more comfortable and pleasant.

One of the popular trends this year in furnishings is that of the oriental motif. Screens, furniture styles and wall decor have taken on the Far Eastern look. Scandinavian and Moorish styles are favorites too. But many homeowners prefer the more American styles of low, sleek modern furniture. Most of all they want comfort combined with style.

Many new materials have made this happy combination available in home furnishings. Vinyl tile is one that has been made to resemble fine marble. In linoleum and wallpaper designs make the surface resemble wood grain and mosaic decoration.

FABRICS in upholstery show a great deal of texture and are softer in color except for accent pieces, which come in vivid hues.

Better plastic tops are being used on occasional pieces such as desks, tables, dressers and children's furniture. The advantage is the "wipe-clean" feature, allowing Mother to erase fingermarks and spills easily.

PLEASANT corner is furnished by Victorian table and Gentleman's chair with a harmonizing lamp providing the reading light. Marble-topped table holds imported figurines from France and is of mahogany. Laura Johnsen relaxes with a decorating magazine at Lee Marriott, decorator, San Rafael. These furnishings are American reproductions, though Mr. Marriott is in Europe viewing furniture and interior stylings.

WITH STEREO the latest in sound equipment, a new custom cabinet can take the components off of open shelves and house them in a fine piece of furniture harmonizing with the living room decor. Here center houses equipment of tape recorder for recording and playback of stereo tapes and the regular turntable, while the wings hold the multiple speakers. This model of satin finish walnut was designed by Catania Sound, San Rafael, for Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Love of Corte Madera. The whole unit is ten feet long and 32 inches high. Television is set into wall above. (George Wheeler photo)

Keep Traffic Lanes Open In The Home

The policeman saves tempers by keeping lanes open on the highway. The homemaker protects her own equanimity by planning room arrangements so that traffic lanes are open in her house.

If you have ever stumbled through some one else's awkwardly-planned home you know how important this is. The travel paths in a room should be so clear that you could negotiate them in the dark without bumping into furniture.

Plan free access to hall closets and clothes closets. You shouldn't have to manoeuvre to reach the television set, desk or windows. Above all, the routes between doors should be kept open.

Furniture Has Straighter Legs

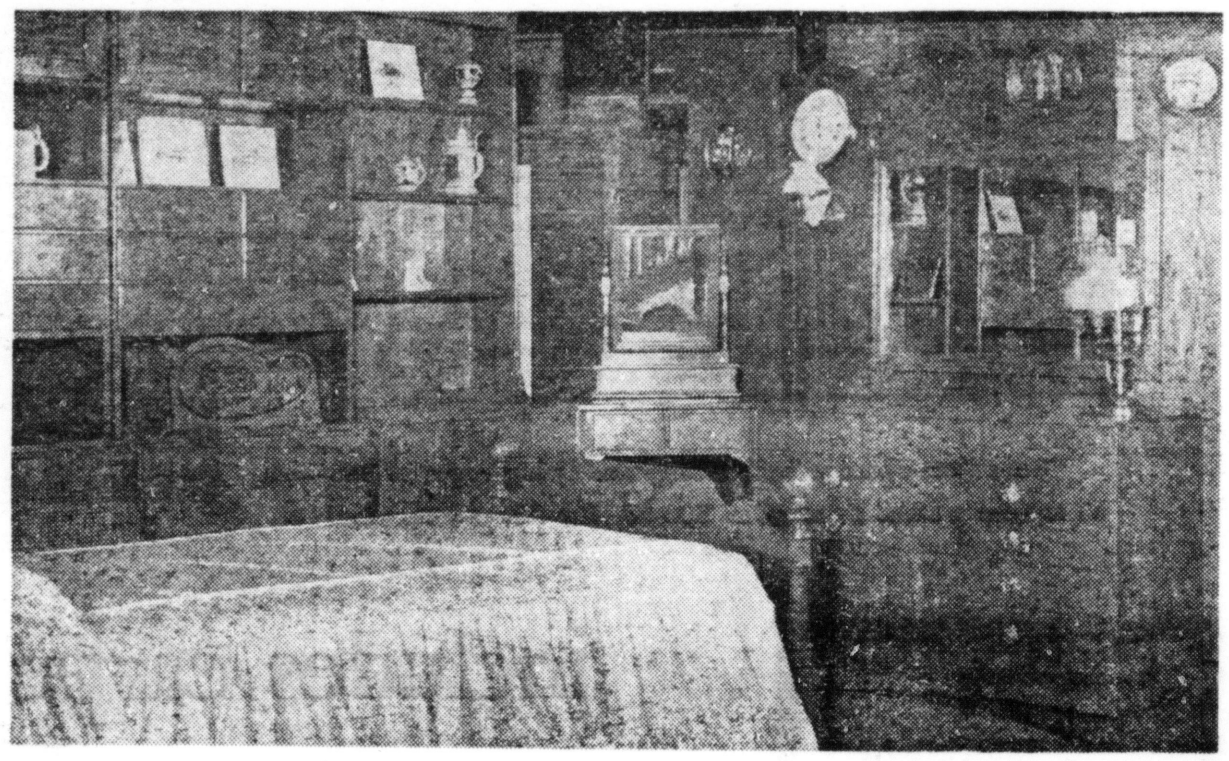
The once popular brass ferules on furniture legs are disappearing and so are the tapered, slanted legs that have held up most modern dressers and tables for years.

More often now, legs are straight, square or imaginatively shaped. They seem to blend into sculptured stretcher bases or side panels.

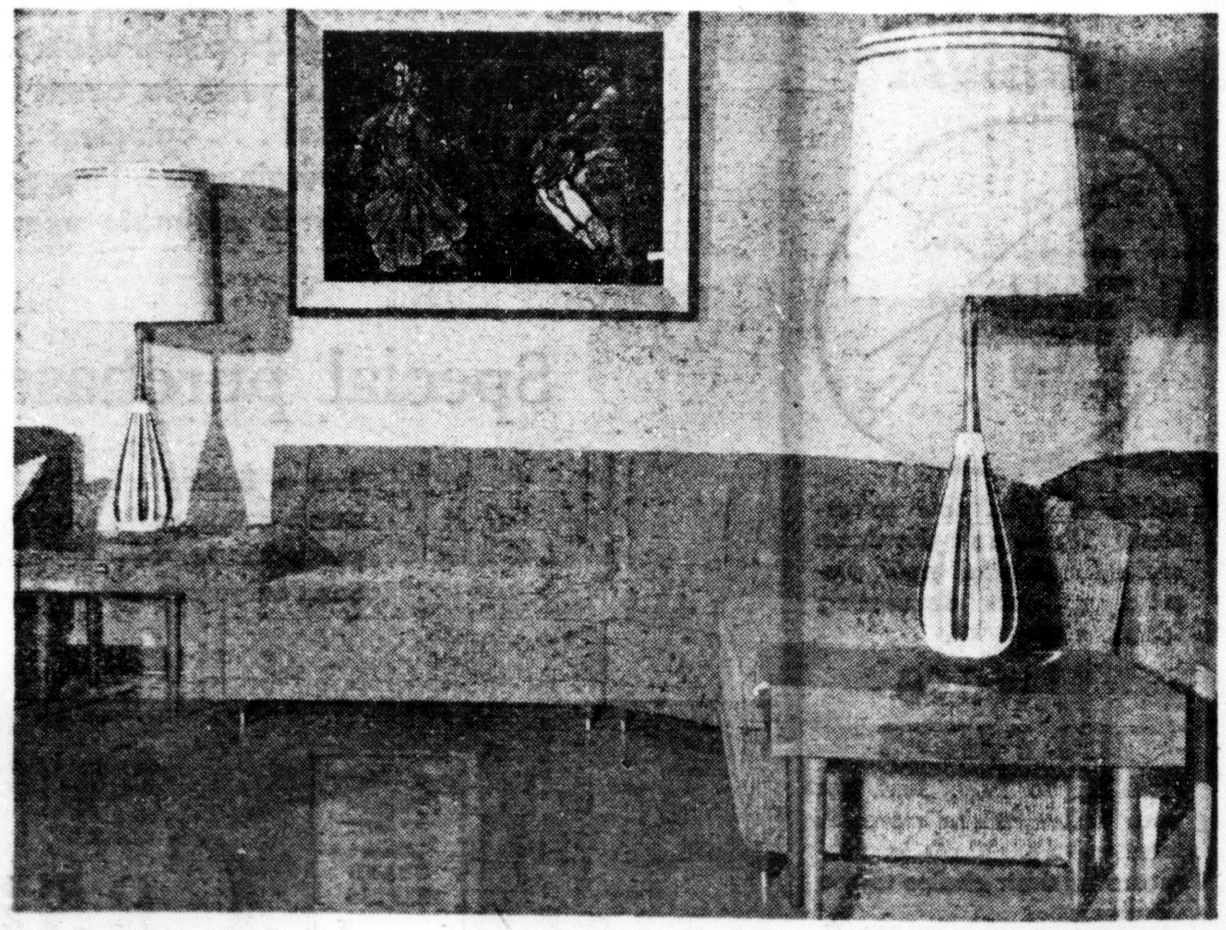
Trays As Tables

Hostess trays which attach to the arms of a group of chairs and acts as tables are an innovation on the style scene.

The fruitwood arms of the chairs serve not only as style notes but perform a definite function — supporting the matching woodgrain thermoset plastic hostess trays which double as tables when slipped over the turnings of adjacent chairs. The chairs may be set tete-a-tete or facing in the same direction.



MAKE YOUR small rooms bigger with plenty of shelves, drawers, dresser and vanity all in continuous sections. Marin County Furniture Co., San Rafael shows maple set with braided rugs and bed with pink and white eyelet spread with ruffles. Banks of drawers and shelves line the walls, all in matching finish. Magazine racks, three-legged stools and other single pieces of maple can be added.



WHAT IS MORE popular today than the sectional sofa for the living room? Such an arrangement allows a family to add pieces as they go along and have a finished-looking room meanwhile. This three-piece sectional features foam rubber tufting in the back and the seats, and it comes in a variety of colors. End tables and lamps give it a finished appearance. Picture is painted on black velvet. All may be seen at Clark's Sample Furniture, 526 Third St., San Rafael.

ORIENTAL LOOK comes with black edged chair and cabinet, with matching black-framed oriental print and Far Eastern lamp. The table is topped with a marble effect and the doors are finished in natural teak. They come also in Mandarin red and in white with gold fleck. Inside are adjustable shelves. Chair is covered in soft muted tones of tangerine and gold. The pieces may be seen at California Furniture Co., Third and B Sts., San Rafael. (Photo by Carleton Williams.)

How To Shop For A Rug

Shopping for a carpet or rug with the wealth of variety available today might seem confusing at first, but it need not be. Here are some tips for arriving at the right choice for your needs, tastes and pocketbook.

First, analyze your basic requirements and make a list. Do you want the carpet for an area with light or heavy traffic? How big is the area? Measure the width and length in feet. Does the room have a dominant decorating style? Is it a formal or casual room? What is the color in mind? Do you prefer a plain carpet, a gentle or bold pattern?

KEEP AN open mind on answers to the decorating questions until the second step—visit a dealer to see the carpet variety available. There are new colors and designs that may spark new thoughts on the way the room should look. A colorful carpet can be the foundation for the whole room color scheme.

Tell the dealer your practical needs and room measurements. He can best estimate the quality required for long-lasting service, advise you on construction and type of fiber, and figure the best value for your needs.

IT IS ONLY good shopping to take advantage of a bargain. But there is no "bargain" if the carpet is of poor construction. A quality carpet or rug is a durable product and is built to serve a long time. Rely on a recognized brand name, and visit a responsible local dealer.

He offers many extra services. You may purchase the carpet over a period of time on an accredited payment plan, thereby allowing you to own a better quality.

YOU MAY select the carpet right in your own home, and be sure that the color and texture blends with other furnishings — and be sure the whole family likes it too! It is easy to own and enjoy a carpet or rug.

FAR EASTERN influence so popular in Marin shows in this sofa from a collection called Orient, built with rubber webbing instead of steel springs, foam padding and foam rubber cushions. Orient comes in 58 sizes of sectionals, angle sofas, curve sofas, chairs and loveseats. Orient may be seen at Braverman's, San Anselmo.

Line, Balance Are Decorating Tools

A vertical line in a room is like a church steeple. It goes straight up in the air and adds interest.

Too many vertical lines in the room create a restless atmosphere. They force the eye to travel up and down continuously. The result is somewhat like being at the bottom of a canyon or on a street surrounded by skyscrapers.

Lines and mass are two of the basic materials of the home decorator. The Home Furnishings Industry Committee points out that the way she handles them will make impossible — the effect she craves.

Strong lines should work together. The sofa stands along the wall, or in very large rooms, at right angles to it. Carpet margins parallel the walls.

Use the diagonal line cautiously. In the wrong place it can be downright disturbing, it crashes across the vision like a lightning-smashed tree. One would very rarely put a carpet on a diagonal.

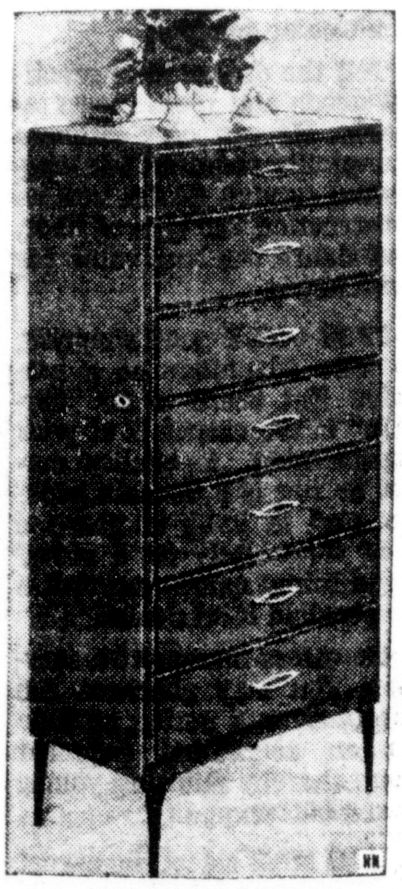
The best way to understand balance is to remember your childhood teeter-tauter. Two children of equal weight balanced neatly. In decorating this sort of even balance is called "bisymmetrical," or formal balance.

Now when a big child and a little child wanted to teeter together, they could manage, but it took a little more doing. The heavier one had to move towards the center. This type of balance is "asymmetrical" or "informal."

The home decorator first settles the balance problem on the floor. For example, she may balance a sofa and table on one side of the room with a chair-and-table group and a desk on the other.

When the furniture is well distributed throughout the room, the woman in charge of these arrangements is ready to start up the walls. Look at each wall as though it were a picture within a frame. Perhaps along one wall you may have stacking units.

You can cover a square section of the wall, achieving an interesting balance of open and closed units. You could also decide to use three units adjoining each other below a fourth stacked on one end. To balance this vertical you could use tall candlesticks, a heavy ceramic or long pictures.



THE FRENCH word for week is semaine, and this tall thin chest with its seven drawers, one for each day of the week, is the Contessa Semanier. Its tapering legs are steel.

THIS TAMBOUR top ladies' desk will catch the fancy of the neat and feminine daughter. It is built of walnut and pecan and has a comfortable chair.

Variety In Furniture Is Expression

Infinite variety characterizes the new fall collections in furniture. The homemaker can choose from designs that reflect Oriental and Scandinavian influences, contemporary furniture with traditional elegance, or traditional pieces with a fresh feeling.

If there is one label that can be applied to the new home furnishings, it is "livability." The new creations are functional, but with richness, warmth and beauty. They serve a realistic purpose.

Chairs and sofas are luxurious in comfort and styling . . . made for sitting, resting and relaxing. Cabinets, chests and dressers are designed to store things conveniently and efficiently in the limited space of smaller modern homes.

Today's furniture has a softer look and simple refinement. There is more use of ornamentation, such as jewel-like metal accents, decorative marble inlays, carved effects and combinations of woods and other materials.

Upholstered furniture continues to be built along lighter lines with straight-and-narrow rather than overstuffed arms.

Quilting and lots of tufted detail add to the elegance, and many sofas and chairs feature loose pillow backs. In some collections the basic pieces are in a solid color with the pillows in a correlated pattern.

In others, the sofa and chair sets come in plain and patterned combinations of the same fabric.

The present trend in living room groups is more in the direction of related rather than matching pieces. The fabrics are lush in silk and silk-like textures. The use of exposed wood for ornamentation is another significant feature of the new upholstered furniture.

Consider Heritage

Most of us usually associate Early American furniture with New England. However, today's furniture frequently called Early American has a far richer heritage of design source than merely 17th American colonial.

Motifs popular among rural cabinet makers in Sweden, Austria and Holland are combined or adapted by our designers for a richer, more interesting collection of furniture pieces.

LATEST EQUIPMENT in entertainment and sound for the home is fine stereophonic set with AM-FM radio as well. The finish on these cabinets housing the sound equipment comes in mahogany and lighter shades and the cabinets are in modern and traditional styles to match your living room furnishings. All styles may be seen at Hoy's, San Rafael, stereo salons which have been designed to reproduce sound as if it were in your living room.

DO-IT-YOURSELF fans are growing in number when it comes to laying the flooring and doing the wallpapering and painting in their homes. To aid the professional and amateur in beautifying the home, manufacturers of vinyl plastic tiles have made their wares in a myriad of colors and designs. Some even resemble mosaics. All are easily laid, using any of a number of suitable adhesives. Vinyl linoleums are popular, too. Above is self-selection shelf of San Anselmo Furniture Co., 112 Pine St.

Carpet Patterns Inspire New Plans In Decoration

"I like the new patterns . . . but would they limit future room decoration?"

This year, as pattern is emphasized in carpets and rugs, homemakers are considering whether the new designs will be compatible with other home furnishings over a period of time.

The answer is a definite "Yes" from decorators and designers who have discovered that pattern can be flexible. The floor that is covered with a floral, Oriental motif, or other pattern need not dictate a monotonous choice of other furnishings.

If a room is large enough, several patterns can be used without making decor seem too "busy." If a carpet or rug pattern is large, a smaller-scale design might be used for an occasional chair or in accessories.

Even in small rooms, there is such a wide range of choice in upholstery, drapery fabrics, wall paper and other room components that several decorative schemes can be built around the patterned floor.

Solid-color walls can, of course, be changed to harmonize or contrast with any one of the colors in a carpet pattern. In wallpaper, still another choice is a small stripe or abstract design which would not conflict with the floor.

Texture in upholstery or drapery fabrics is a refreshing change of pace and lends variety to a room without fighting for attention with the pattern of a carpet or rug. Here, too, colors can be changed with ease.

Fortunately, new pattern offerings include a wide range—from the small, all-over design to the large, spaced style. Homemakers are finding that these patterns actually spark their imagination in decorating, rather than limiting ideas.

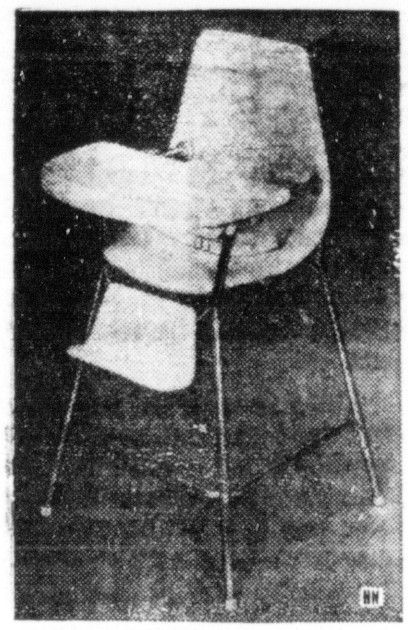
DANISH MODERN is a strong trend in furniture as illustrated by this satin finish walnut rocker and single chair, right. As featured at Novato Furniture, 7388 Redwood Highway, the furniture has orange and light blue cushions in new plastic covering. Cushions are interchangeable and also come in cloth coverings. The furniture line comes in living and dining room pieces.



WASHABLE vinyl covers the contour shaped aluminum seat and back of this new high chair. When baby grows a bit you can convert it to a youth chair by removing the sturdy plastic tray, foot rest and safety belt.

Furnitue Is Of All Kinds For The Hall

The hall or foyer, like a handshake, is an extension of host and hostess. It is the first and last stop of persons entering the home, but often it is the neglected room in furniture plans.

Ideally, foyer furnishings should include, a table or chest, a mirror, and a bench or chair to sit on while removing boots. The floor covering should be able to withstand moisture. The color scheme should blend with that of the living room.

Many new living room collections include units designed for the hall, the Home Furnishings Industry Committee declares. There also are tables and chests that stand on their own for beauty and utility. They will complement, but not match, your other furniture.

You will find a variety of chests that show the Oriental influence. Their lacquered finishes in red, soft blue or black provide a dramatic block of color in the entrance way.

A three-drawer French Provincial chest in rich green lacquer would be impressive in a hall or almost any other room. So would a new sepentine chest in a turquoise finish.

The low drawer unit with a pier glass, a long slender mirror, is a popular revival practical for the hall. You often see it in contemporary styling.

If you have a small hall and a big storage problem you will probably seek a thin unit with drawers or a cabinet.

THE SERIOUS COOK likes knives and cutlery close at hand. Wood blocks and racks make attractive wall display.

Outlines Can Help You Choose Furniture Setting

A woman's home and furniture, just as a woman's face, are extensions of her personality. She wants them to be "attractive."

"Attractive" may signify a fresh prettiness, a stately grace or a dramatic impact of line and color. Whatever the type, an attractive woman and her attractive home always draw admiring glances.

The beauty-conscious woman is careful to bring out her own best features. She selects her wardrobe by finding out what is just right for her.

The beauty-conscious homemaker can create an attractive setting for her furniture in the same way. First she will settle on the style that has the greatest appeal for her and her family. Then she will search out draperies, carpeting and accessories to harmonize with it.

The Home Furnishings Industry Committee observes that different furniture styles demand different treatments. The following thumbnail sketches may help you decide what is right for your home. They are offered only as possible outlines for planning, not as hard-and-fast rules.

EARLY AMERICAN. The coast of New England may be harsh and rocky but Early American styles are inviting and homey. They remind you of braided rugs and pewter or copper gleaming on a fireplace.

As far as flooring is concerned, hooked rugs and solid-color carpeting are good, too.

You can treat your windows to tailored curtains or gay and ruffled designs. Prints related to American history or to nature are always attractive.

DANISH MODERN stands for exposed wood frames and trim tailored cushions. The wood always has the color of oil-rubbed walnut.

This style is particularly adaptable to small-scaled rooms that would be easily overpowered by heavy lines. Carpets are usually solid colored. Area rugs may have abstract designs in vibrant colors.

Fabrics with a homespun look and synthetics with conventionalized designs are friends of Danish modern. You would probably want accessories with a hand-crafted look, even though they might be machine-made.

ORIENTAL styling calls for the carefully-studied effect, the well-placed line and mass, characteristic of a Japanese print. Use too heavy a hand and the result will look like an opium den.

The same spirit runs through Oriental, Danish and architecturally-lined modern furniture. They may be discreetly combined.

Split bamboo and solid-colored tailored draperies are good for windows. Brass, terra cotta and modern sculpture are among possible accessories. For floors you might use solid colors and, of course, Oriental rugs.

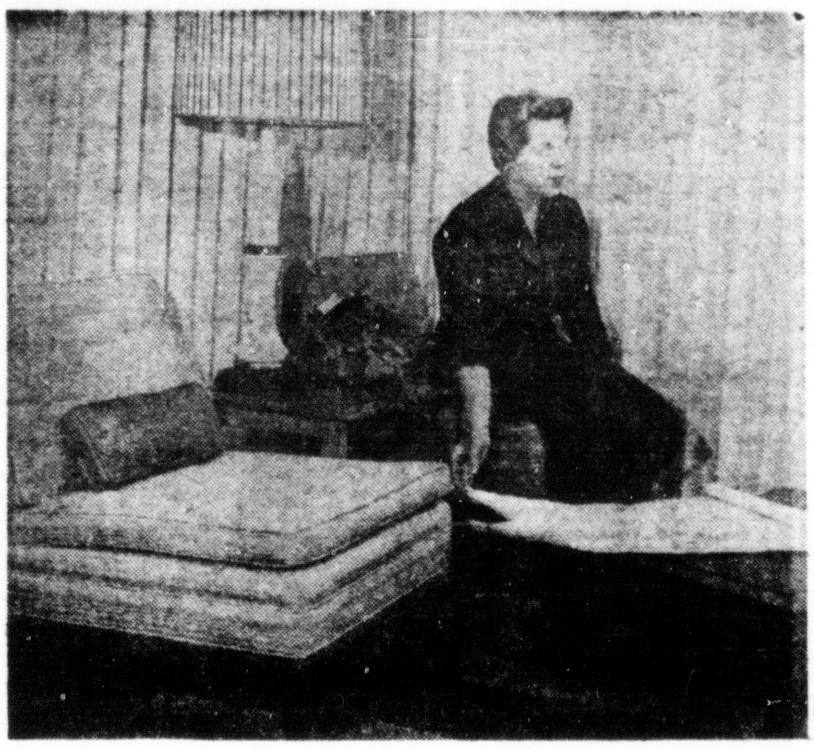
NEW THIS YEAR in floor coverings is the vinyl flooring that can be laid directly over concrete with the aid of various adhesives. It comes in a variety of patterns and is laid in unbroken sheets, guaranteed through hard use for 12 years. Linoleums, too, are making a comeback with pattern selections greater than in the old days. Some of the sheet vinyls are shot with metal for a sparkle look. Above selection from Rafael Floor Coverings, San Rafael.



FULL HARMONY for home furnishings can be achieved, as here, when a family can coordinate tile, fixtures, color and texture of walls and furniture, draperies and carpeting. Florence Huber, interior designer, of Kentfield, prefers to work from the blueprint stage with the various contractors and, ideally, with the architect, on a new home. Here lines are emphasized in draperies and striped rug. Chairs serve to break the design with horizontal lines in their pattern.

BEST NEWS for carpet buyers in the months to come are the combinations in carpeting of rayons, acrilan, wool and of course, cotton. Very popular in Marin homes are the wall-to-wall carpets in rich tweed tones. Here Linda Semler looks over the color selection at Carpets Unlimited, San Rafael. Many throw-rugs are popular in matching or contrasting colors with walls for entry ways or halls as well.

FABRICS for coordination with wall color and carpeting to dress up a room are specialties with housewives. Here Mrs. Betty Mazzio, a customer at Town and Country Interiors, on the Miracle Mile, San Anselmo, looks for flowered fabric to cover furniture. A wide variety of patterns and colors greets the shopper this year for use as bolsters, drapes and upholstery.

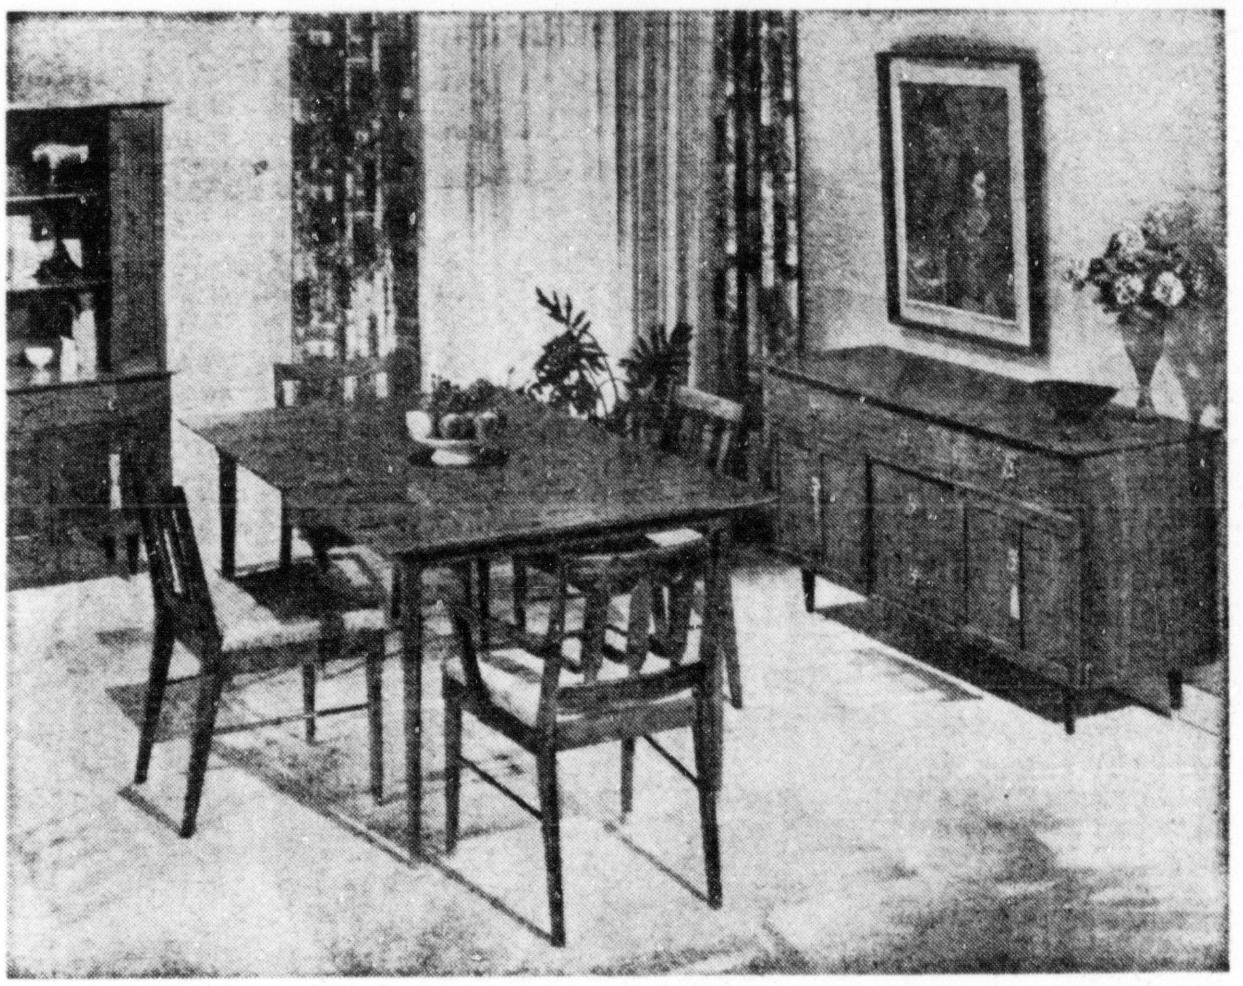
STAIN PROOF panels of wallpaper are making a hit with housewives as wallpaper makes a strong comeback this year. One panel such as this Oriental-type pattern is enough for a room, Bud Gutman of the Paint Pot, Larkspur, points out. The rest of the room may be painted or papered with a plain and harmonizing shade.



WITH THE DINING ROOM making a strong comeback in Marin County homes, a clean-lined dining set is in demand. Here is the "Asset model," designed by Sanford Wallack, and which comes in natural finished walnut or in limed oak. China deck, left, and buffet come in a variety of sizes and arrangements, matching the table and chairs. The set may be seen at Van-Doyle Furniture, 921 C St., San Rafael.

Leather Opening Wider Horizons In Decoration

Petal-soft leather, in any color under the sun, is opening more vistas on the decorating horizon. It is a wonderful material with which to work and brings an interesting texture into a room. Now that it is available in so many beautiful colors, all stops are out and the use of leather is limited only by imagination.

Leather has long been used to cover chairs and sofas and to provide contrast in table tops. Now it is also being used to cover doors of chests and cabinets. Strips of leather are woven to create a lattice effect in the doors of a new china cabinet.

The new leather is so soft that it is even being used as a drapery and bedspread material. The effect is unusual and beautiful. Screens which can act either as a background in a room or as a room divider are being made of leather strips.

The colors in which leather is now available are truly gorgeous. They range from the palest shades up to the darkest. And within the color spectrum there are myriad variations on primary colors.

GIVE VISITORS a good first impression. Paint, distinctive knobs and escutcheons freshen a front door and lend it style.

DRAPERIES and spread with side ruffle are featured for that pink and white look in bedroom furnishings. Extra pillows in contrasting colors lend a decorative touch to the room. Custom-made draperies and spreads are the specialty of Bell's Draperies, San Rafael, whose workshop turns out 1,000 yards a week. This Heirloom set comes ready-made however, in twin or full size spread.

Furniture Prices Holding The Line

The price of furniture has increased only 3.1 per cent in the last ten years, National Bureau of Labor Statistics show. Dollar for dollar this makes furniture one of the best buys for Mr. and Mrs. America.

During the same period their rent has increased 39 per cent. They are paying 41 per cent more for the family car, and as for haircuts—it's almost painful to talk about them. Haircuts cost 64 per cent more than a decade ago!

While the furniture industry has held its price down, it has raised the quality of its product. Today even low- and medium-priced furniture has many of the fine points found only in better quality furniture of the early 1940s.

The ease of keeping upholstery bright and attractive makes it possible to incorporate many light and gay shades in the home that would have been impossible not too long ago. There is a rainbow of new color in chairs and sofas.

New glues have been perfected in the last decade to make veneers amazingly strong. Furniture manufacturers have discovered protective stain- and scratch-resistant coatings. It's even possible to buy furniture with tops impervious to burning cigarettes.

What created this overflowing horn of plenty for the consumer who buys furniture? The answer is high production and vigorous competition.

Today there are more than 4000 companies making furniture. Some of the larger factories turn out as many as two pieces of furniture every minute, and it's sturdy well-made furniture that meets all of the important standards.

To stay competitive they have to keep their quality as high and their prices as low as possible. They stay abreast of the best in design because they figure that is the way to sell.

The result is a favorable climate for the family wanting to furnish or re-furnish. There is little else to buy that has held the price line as well as furniture in the last ten years.

Mr. And Mrs.

Chairs matched in styling, often called "Mr. and Mrs." chairs are a wise investment for newlyweds. The man's chair is usually a little higher and wider than the woman's, but to balance the scale her's usually has a matching ottoman.

Dividers Play Vital Role In Decorating Large Rooms

With open-style planning of new homes becoming increasingly popular, dividers are gaining importance as a means of separating one living area from another.

Dividers may be decorative only, serve a purpose, or combine both features.

Highly decorative and useful is a divider of concrete block to separate a kitchen and dining area from the living room. A wooden enclosure with bookshelves, or a bench, may be added on one side, and a storage cabinet may face the dining area.

One of the most popular arrangements in a modern home is the kitchen with separate cooking and dining area. An island divider used here can also serve as a snack bar and food preparation area.

Purely decorative dividers are available in various designs. Strings of translucent glass circles, available in 30 colors are a decorative excuse for a divider suitable for kitchen, dining room, or living room areas.

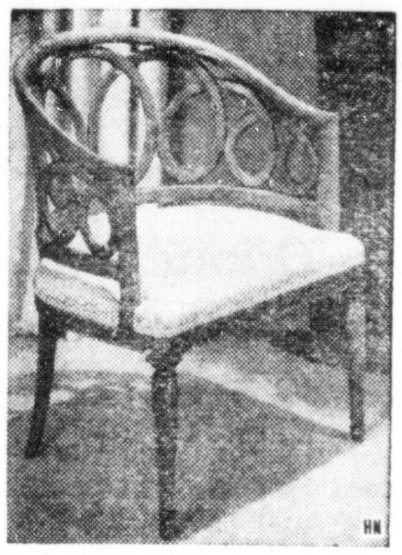
High in favor now are filigree design wall panels that double as folding room dividers. The versatile panels have a light, airy effect.

Sections of unpainted birch veneer are framed with smoothly sanded pine, ready to paint or stain to match any decor. Several sections can be hinged together without blocking air or light. They may also be backed with fabric for a dramatic effect.

All in all, the dividers are gaining favor, and it looks as if they are here to stay.

HARLEQUIN PRINT, popular in many furnishings, makes a pleasing pattern for a wall panel of wallpaper. This is a pattern that comes in color as well as black and white. Current decorating trend is back to wallpapers again, as Newton McKenna, right, of Marin Color Service, 902 Lincoln Ave., San Rafael, discusses wall decoration problems with Mrs. Evelyn Novak.

SUBURBIA DINING set with matching sideboard comes in a deep walnut wood for pleasant dining. The sideboard features considerable cupboard space as well as two large drawers at the base of it. The set has matching bedroom pieces and living room furnishings as well. They may be seen in Marin at Montgomery Ward, San Rafael.



THE SPIRALING design of this Italian provincial chair is carved from solid wood. It comes in a variety of upholstery covers, all double-welted on a foam rubber seat. The finish is butternut.

To Buy Solid Wood Or Veneer

"Shall we buy solid wood or veneers?"

This question is often asked when major furniture purchases are considered, and before any decision is made, it may help if you know the virtues and purposes of both.

Veneers are used for flat surfaces where great strength lightness or freedom from warping is important. A thin slice of beautifully-grained wood is glued to a core of two, four or six layers of hardwood.

To increase the strength, the grains of adjoining layers always run at right angles. If even-numbered layers are horizontal, odd-numbered layers are vertical. The result is a construction stronger than wood of equal thickness.

In furniture with veneered surfaces, solid wood is always used for frames, legs and rails. Parts that are shaped or carved are also of solid woods.

Furniture labeled "solid wood" will be at least one-quarter of an inch thick.

Japanese Carving

A truly unique design element distinguishes one of the pieces in a new collection called "Janus." Rare carved Japanese cherry blocks, painstakingly made centuries ago for the printing of ancient books, are mounted in the doors of a super-structure which can sit on top of a buffet. The blocks are unique, because each is the only one in the world; no two are alike.

THIS CHAIR is modeled after Napoleon's campaign chair, but it is more comfortable. Its style is Directoire, named for the period when Napoleon was France's director.

OUR 39TH YEAR IN MARIN COUNTY

Lines In Furnishings This Year Are Long And Low

Oriental Influence Is Evident In Many A Marin Living Room

Marin homemakers today have a far greater variety from which to choose in furniture and home furnishings than ever.

Everywhere there are great collections of almost every known style: traditional, contemporary, "modern," Italian and French Provincial, colonial, transitional, Scandinavian, Oriental and even "screwball" types!

It is more and more difficult to specify any one style as a definite trend today. There is, however, a sharp contrast to the furnishings of homes of just a few years ago. Lines are longer and lower.

Fabrics in upholstery pieces show a great deal of texture and are softer in color except for accent pieces which come in vivid hues.

WOOD FURNITURE with walnut heading the list again this fall, continues to be made in tan or brown tones and in a matte finish. Brass, steel and other metal trims on wood are gaining popularity.

Better and better plastic tops and trims are being used on occasional pieces such as desks, coffee tables, dressers and children's furniture. These are particularly adaptable and popular with young moderns who are raising families, because plastics can take the wear and tear of growing children and are easy to clean.

Walnut, in medium and dark finishes, is again Number One choice in contemporary furniture while maple, of course, remains the perennial favorite for the popular Early American Provincial lines.

THERE IS also an indication that painted furniture may be staging a come-back. This is partly due to the Oriental influence, but in addition to the usual black-lacquered finishes, there's a great deal of white, especially in bedroom furniture, small tables and other occasional pieces. The latter two are also found in antique and pumice.

Many interesting things are being done with metal. One of the leading California manufacturers has introduced a complete line of metal bedroom furniture, featuring ornate scroll-work and medallion accents reminiscent of the graceful steel furniture of the French Directoire era.

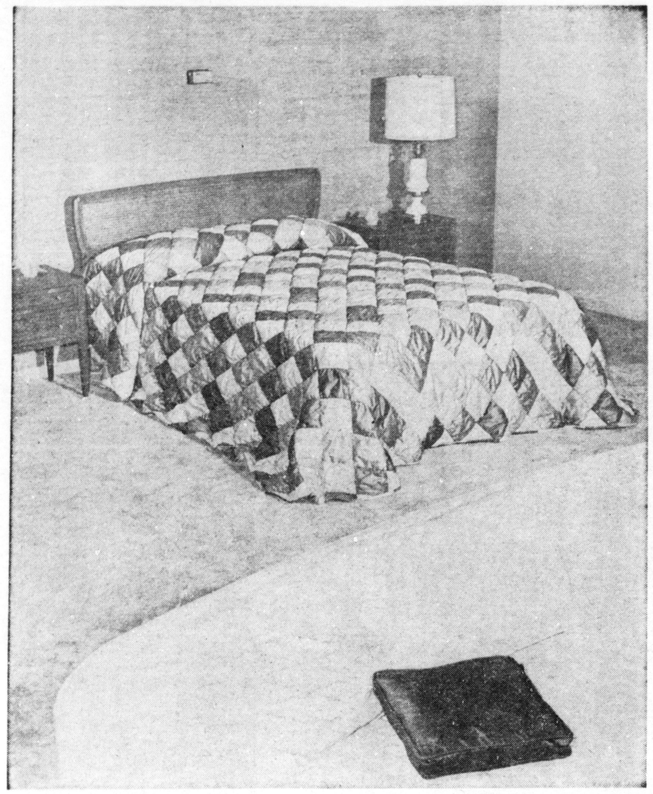
MARBLE IS also much in evidence for both table tops and decorative inlays. Plastics are being used for tops of desks, dressers, occasional pieces and dinette tables, a feature that will appeal to families with growing children.

Contemporary designers have created many multi-purpose items such as benches with removable cushions which double as long cocktail tables . . . chow tables which may be used separately as end tables or joined together to form a coffee table. Tall shelf and cabinet storage units also serve as room dividers. Versatile chests are equally at home in the living room or bedroom. Long slat benches being made as bases for stereo cabinets may also be used as seats for listeners.

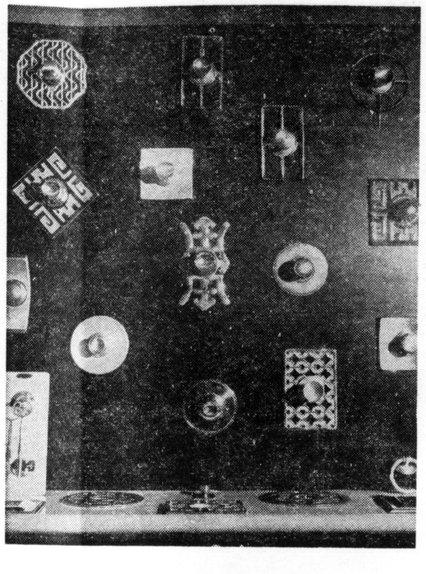
BOTH the Scandinavian and Oriental influences continue to be important. The latter is seen in the beautifully sculptured wood frames of smart, contemporary upholstered furniture and fine tables, desks, cabinets and other occasional pieces of simple, uncluttered lines that emphasize the rich, natural beauty of fine woods.

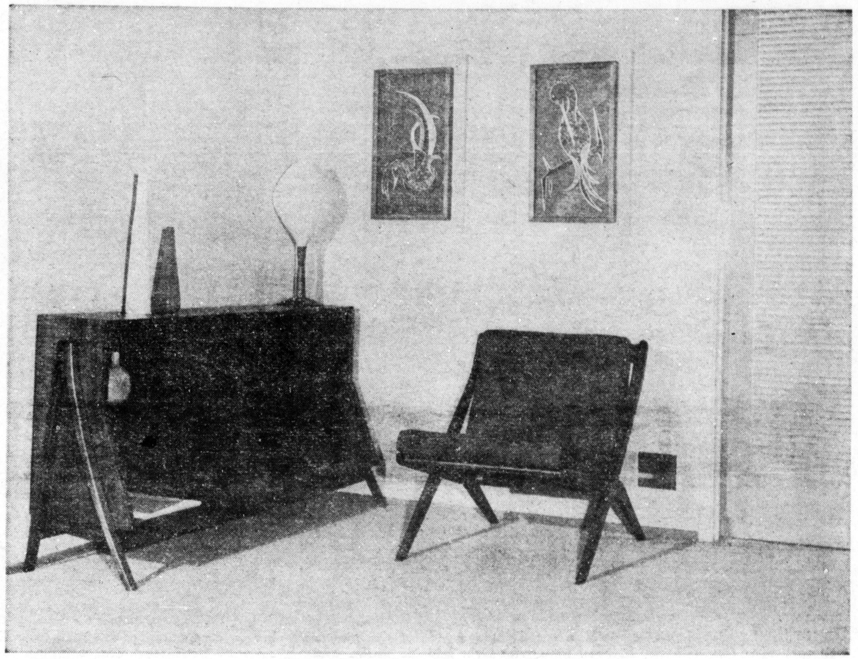
As for color, the neutrals—beige, grey, off-white, gold charcoal—still hold sway as the overwhelming choice for backgrounds and floor coverings.

New accent colors will create plenty of excitement in a breath-taking array of rich purples, cobalt and sapphire blues, sharp greens, magenta, cerise, marigold, burnt-orange and apricot tones.



QUILTED spread in harlequin tan, brown and turquoise and grey shades sets off bedstead and end tables in new studio display room of Dorothy Kell Furniture, San Rafael. In front is cream shade low-lined sofa with bright contrasting pillow. Pink glass figuerines lend accent on end tables. Light table lamp lends a contrast to the subdued beige and brown tones.





AT LEFT

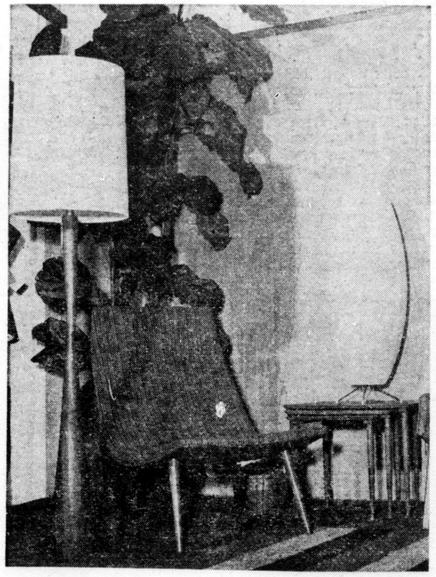
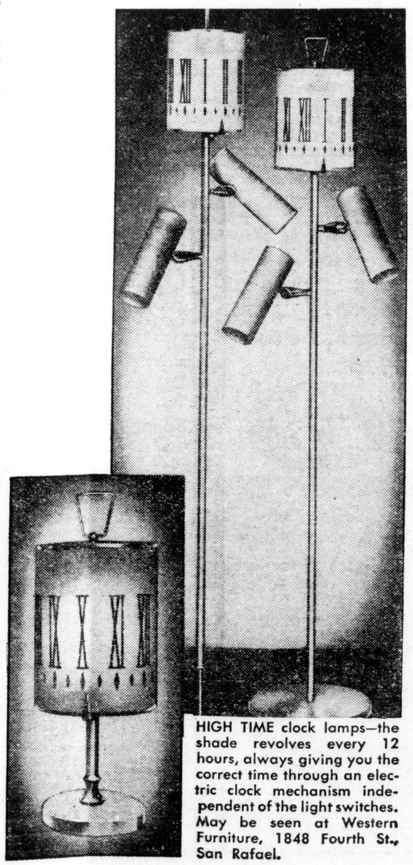
ABOVE

SCANDINAVIAN bookcase and chair give living room corner a smooth, relaxing look, emphasized with mosaic exotic bird pictures and ceramic bottles. This corner is from model home in Greenbrae, which was furnished by Casa Marin, San Rafael.

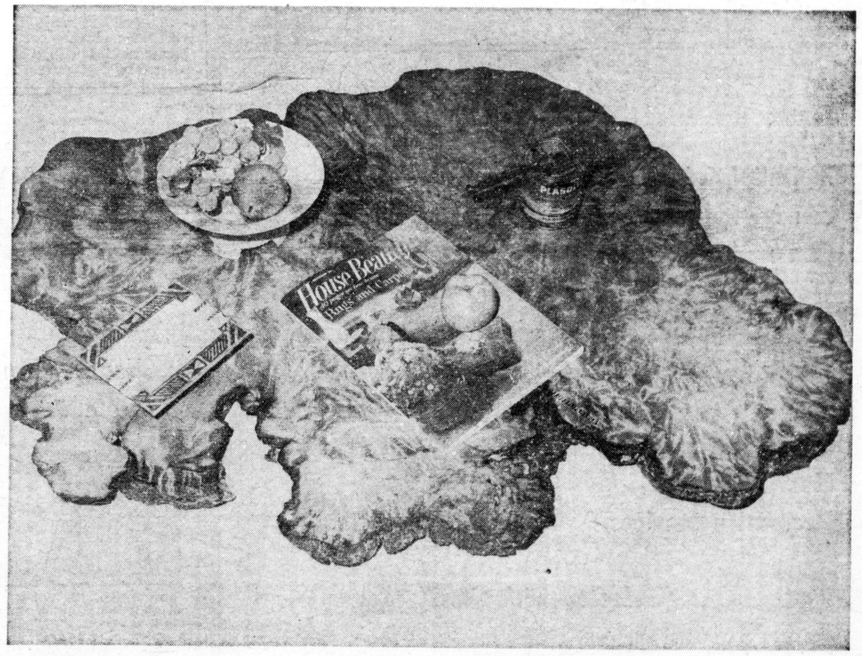
HUGE VARIETY of materials and colors makes the modern decoration of interiors a task of endless possibility. As Dorothee Farber, San Anselmo interior designer, explains it, the job should be done with an eye toward coordination of furniture, fabric and color throughout the house. Each room calls for special combinations to create a desirable, livable effect.



SCOOP CHAIR is along the Scandinavian furniture lines as harmonizing lamp, which, however, was made in Marin. Wide striped carpet is from Holland and comes in blue and green blend. Wide white lamps give curved line to straight lined furniture legs. Chair cover comes in several choices of color at Mill Valley Furniture Co., which specializes in modern import look furnishings.



HIGH TIME clock lamps—the shade revolves every 12 hours, always giving you the correct time through an electric clock mechanism independent of the light switches. May be seen at Western Furniture, 1848 Fourth St., San Rafael.



AN UNUSUAL and beautiful coffee table, above, was made from a fir burl that was sanded very smooth and varnished with 13 coats of marine spar varnish. The varnish serves as a stain-proof finish and brings out the golden tones and swirling grain pattern of the wood. Les Oliver, of Les Oliver Paint Store, San Rafael, did the work.

Room Locale Can Be Key To Color

The location of a room in which carpet is to be used may often be a clue for color selection.

Rooms which get a great deal of natural light and sun —those on the south or west side of a home—could be complemented with cool carpet colors. Soft greens, blues or green-gold shades offset glare and balance the natural lighting of such a room.

Rooms which are just the opposite—receiving less natural light or located on the north—might need the balance of a warm color. Bright, warm shades such as gold, red or melon help to make such a room seem cozier and more livable.

The range of carpet colors today is so broad that just the right tone can be picked.

Plan Center Of Interest

You enter a well-arranged room and your eyes unconsciously focus on one attractive area, the center of interest.

You enter a poorly-arranged room and your eyes will also be drawn to a center of interest, an unhappy one. It's likely to be a radiator cover, an awkwardly placed chair or the glaring eye of the television set.

How to create pleasing center, or centers, in every room is one problem of the home decorator. Many areas have a natural focal point in an architectural feature, such as an attractive fireplace or a picture window. By arranging furniture groups of equal balance on either side of it, you can draw attention to it.

Sometimes the interest center will be a furniture group. Bookcase walls are attention magnets. Just a chair next to a table, with pictures in good balance above, can do the trick.

Finally, there is the beautiful piece of furniture that becomes a center of interest. The unusual desk, chest or table should have a place of prominence.

Color News In Carpet

The whole scale of the beige-brown family continues to be a favorite with many variations. New tones have a rosy cast. New accents are tangerine and gold. For more sophisticated settings, the true-blue family has added members, like powder blue and periwinkle. Aqua, a steady favorite, is more on the blue side. The choice of color in carpet is exciting and unlimited.

THE SQUARED-OFF design in appliances and utensils saves working space. Now even home freezing containers come in squares.

SEWING MACHINES whir turning out new custom draperies for a San Rafael home. The trend is toward large areas of full length draperies lending height to the otherwise lower lines of room furnishings. New fabrics last longer and come in more textures than ever before to blend or contrast with carpeting and furniture. Trend Draperies, 430 Francisco Blvd., San Rafael, does full-time custom drapery work.

What Comes In Seven Forms, One Each For Seven Uses?

Insulation board, a versatile building and remodeling material, is made in seven forms.

It's used in construction of buildings ranging in size from one-family houses to factories and skyscrapers.

The seven types of insulation board are:

CEILING TILE. These decorative squares and rectangles are available with smooth surfaces, and with sound-absorbing perforations or fissures. You can apply the tiles yourself with adhesives, nails or staples.

ROOF DECK SLAB. These panels simplify roof construction for a home with an exposed-beam ceiling. They provide the roof deck, finished ceiling and insulation in one product. Like the insulation board tile, roof deck slab is available with either a smooth or sound-absorbing surface on the side used for the ceiling.

BUILDING BOARD. This general purpose insulation board is normally supplied in ½-inch thick square-edged sheets that are 4 feet wide and 6 to 12 feet long. It makes an interior decorative finish for walls and ceilings.

PLANK. This material is similar to insulating building board, except that it's made in narrower widths—8, 10, 12 and 16 inches—and is available with specially fabricated edges which permit concealment of the staples or nails used in fastening it. All planks are factory prefinished in a variety of colors.

SHEATHING. It is designed for use as a wall sheathing in frame construction. It may be integrally treated, impregnated or coated for additional water resistance so that it can be used without building papare in many cities. Sheathing is covered by such exterior facings as wood siding, wood shingles, asbestos-cement siding, brick veneer or stucco.

ROOF INSULATION BOARD. This type of board is particularly suitable for flat roofs. It is covered with built-up roofing (pitch, felt and gravel, for example), and is applied over all types of roof decks.

SHINGLE BACKER. An undercourse, or "layer," beneath wood or asbestos-cement shingles, it adds an attractive depth to the shadow line of the siding. It helps build strong, tight walls, insulates and helps reduce sound transmission.

Colorful Vinyl Floorings Boon On Cleaning Day

Latest floorings are of vinyl, a smooth, tough and easily cleaned surface. Newest thing about these floorings this year is the wondrous variety of patterns and colors that vinyl tile and vinyl sheets come in.

Patterns have created a textured look, giving a special elegance to floors of the home. Many are shot with metal, giving them a sheen and sparkle for a dressed-up appearance.

The price is varied for different vinyls. The pure vinyl floorings are far more costly than those in which vinyl is mixed with less costly materials. The highest vinyl content floors are the easiest to care for and the finest looking.

Manufacturers agree that vinyl floors do need occasional washing and waxing to look their best, but they take less waxing and a thinner layer of wax to keep them up.

The selection of vinyl appropriate for an area depends on the subfloor and the kind of room it is. Prior to this year you couldn't use vinyl sheets on concrete subflooring, but now with a special backing developed in 1959, you can.

The tiles are preferred by do-it-yourself fans because they are easier to handle than sheet vinyl. But a sheet vinyl can be put down with a minimum of seams, which catch dust and dirt, making work for the housewife.

But the variety of both sheet and tile vinyl is likely to give a family several patterns they'll like and find within their budget as well.

Enjoy Your Furniture

Furniture is to enjoy. If a piece of upholstered furniture has to be shielded with a plastic cover it has not been well-selected.

The homemaker who thinks that her furniture will be exposed to an unusual amount of dirt and scuffing should consider vinyl upholstery. It washes clean and can be "used," not preserved like a pound of ginger.

Desks Are New In Styling For Home Or Office

This year, imaginative design and functional convenience combine in the new desks, which can be used at home or in the office.

A smart kidney-shape desk features a tambour case. This case is first-cousin to yesterday's roll-top, with the tambour strips rolling open at the sides to reveal extra compartments for bottles or tall books.

Many new desks provide always-needed extra space with drop-leaves at the side. Other desks have matching wall cabinets with drop fronts.

A new series of executive desks is correlated with chairs, tables, chests and upholstered pieces that can fit into a den or office with equal ease, for a truly luxurious look.

Buy Quality Rug For Small Room

In a small room, there is usually a particular area exposed to a concentration of traffic and wear. Small size often limits furniture arrangement, too, so that the same open area of the carpet gets constant use.

How To Make Your Narrow Rooms Seem Much Broader

An empty room is a box. Sometimes it's a nice box and sometimes it's pretty ugly.

If the room or box happens to be in our house, it becomes the case for our furniture—and for our living. We have to do with it the best we can.

The room that is too long and narrow is a frequent difficulty. The Home Furnishings Industry Committee passes on these tricks you can use to increase its apparent width.

Hang draperies outside the window frame from wall to wall and connect them with a valence. Thin vertical lines of draperies hung in the usual manner would accentuate the narrowness of the wall.

For the same reason you should avoid putting towering pieces of furniture on a narrow wall. (Use them to break up the broad expanses.) Low horizontal lines will make the wall appear wider.

Color can also help. In a room, warm or dark-colored walls move towards you, and cool or light-colored walls move away. Use white, or with blue and green in their mixture, to push too-close walls apart. Bring the far wall closer with a warm colored paint or wall-paper.

In using color, avoid shades too warm or too cold. A cool summer green may freeze you in winter. The reverse is true of very warm colors.

EFFECT of accessories in a room is illustrated by an arrangement of Marin landscape by Ray Strong, candle fixtures and planter on low, clean-lined bookcase. Accessorizing, says Florence Huber of Florence Huber Associates, Kentfield, is an important part of home furnishing to give a finished effect to the room.

LIVING ROOM GROUP is made up of nine separate units of cupboard and shelves. This group illustrates modern look in unfinished furniture, a favorite with the do-it-yourself man who wants a new piece in his home. Unfinished furniture is all ready for stain or paint finishing. The entire group measures 105 inches wide or can come in units down to 96 inches in width. Danish styling is also available in dining table and chairs at White's Unfinished Furniture, 610 Sir Francis Drake Blvd., San Anselmo.

Maintain Beauty For The Carpets

You can add extra years to the life of your carpet and maintain its best appearance by following a few simple suggestions while your carpet or rug is in use.

In addition to regular cleaning, remember:

It helps to turn room-size rugs around once or twice a year in order to distribute wear evenly.

It helps to lift furniture when it is moved. Pushing heavy pieces causes unnecessary abrasion on carpet fibers—and unnecessary strain on a mover's back.

It helps to rearrange furniture , or shift furniture even slightly, within a room. You can thus avoid undue pressure on a single area of the carpet and also change a traffic pattern within a room.

'Face Of Disaster'

"The Face of Disaster," a study of how Americans have reacted in the face of catastrophe, will be published Oct. 22 by Doubleday.

Donald Robinson, free-lance article writer, is the author.

Marinite Proud Of 'Basket Case' Car

San Anselmo Man Reassembles 1910 Hupmobile Which He Found In Pieces

The hero is no foundling infant. He's an old-timer dating back to 1910.

He is, in short, a 1910 Hupmobile car, the antique property of Robert Jones of San Anselmo, a member of the San Rafael Horseless Carriage Club.

The story begins back in 1910 when our hero — or should it be heroine?—was purchased for $750 by a San Francisco tire executive for his honeymoon trip.

The shiny new automobile then boasted a top speed of 40 miles an hour and a comfortable cruising speed of 25 miles an hour.

After this happy start and a useful career in the immediate years that followed, our central character disappeared from the records until two years ago when automobile enthusiast Jones found the Hupmobile in a barn in East Oakland, completely dismantled and the parts in a box trailer.

Jones brought his new possession home in pieces, marking the start of two years of painstaking work in reassembling the old vehicle. Fellow club members aided him in a hunt for missing parts. And when such searches proved unsuccessful, Jones manufactured the parts himself.

Some 99 per cent of the reconstruction work and manufacturing of missing parts was done by Jones himself.

A few months ago the job was completed to Jones' satisfaction. And the old Hubmobile is once again able to take her place along with the finest of today's domestic and imported machines.

Sunday drives in the Hubmobile are a regular weekend outing for Jones.

The owner points out that Sunday is the day for sports car drives. And the 1910 Hupmobile, classed as a "Gentlemen's Runabout" with seats for two, was the sports car of its era.

If the vintage vehicle lacks some of the speed of present-day cars, it does not have to spot them anything in the important gasoline mileage factor. Owner Jones reports that 40 miles per gallon is par for his car.

And the vehicle which originally sold for but $750 is estimated to have a value today nearly five decades later at $2,500.

To Jones his car, representing years of labor and love, is priceless.

In keeping with the enthusiasm of horseless carriage owners for their hobby, Mrs. Jones dons an authentic heirloom gown for her rides in the vintage vehicles on special occasions.

The gown is of heavy ecru silk pongee with elaborate bodice insets of pink satin and lace. And with it goes a white leghorn hat with pink flowers on the crown and a large brim covered with gray ostrich plumes and white shoes with pale pink beading.

The public will have an opportunity to see Mr. Jones' car — and Mrs. Jones' costume — tomorrow at Forest Meadows, Dominican College-San Rafael.

There the Catholic Social Service of Marin County, the San Francisco Region Sports Car Club of America, and the San Rafael Horseless Carriage Club are joining forces to sponsor the Golden Anniversary Concours d'Elegance from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Many other vintage cars in addition to Jones' "basket case" will be on display. So will the finest in modern vehicles.

San Rafael author and TV performer Edward Dolan will be master of ceremonies for the day.

ANOTHER VINTAGE CAR certain to be an eye-catcher at tomorrows big show at Forest Meadows is this 1924 Case Sports Roadster, owned by Bill Mendoes of Oakland.

Paperback By Kerouac Wins Praise

MAGGIE CASSIDY. By Jack Kerouac. Avon 50c.

Zagg, or Ti Jean, or Jack, or Ti Mon Pousse—these are the names and nicknames of the teen-age Duluoz boy who tells this story of his love for Maggie and her love for him.

The place is Kerouac's familiar Lowell, Mass. Zagg, whose father is a printer, has schoolboy friends, G. J. Rigopoulos, whom they call G. J.. a Greek, but all the rest are French-Canadians, Scotty, Albert, Vinny, Roger, ready to roughhouse, duck one another in the snow, wrestle and in the crazy way of youngsters generally, work off their inexhaustible energy.

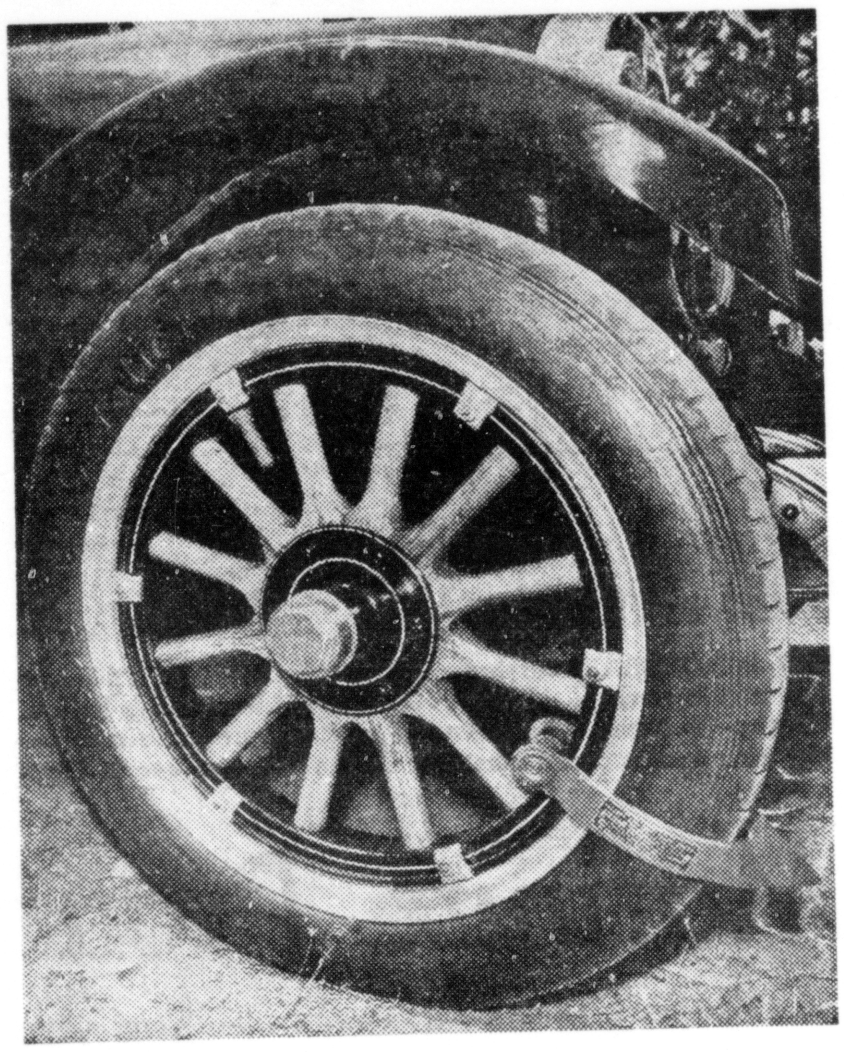
Kerouac, for me, has been a bewilderingly uneven writer; he could be very good, and very bad. In this novel, after you recover from some wholly unnecessary passages of verbal virtuosity, he steps up out of the "beat generation" and becomes a worthwhile, individual, arrived novelist in a class by himself.

Here are no youthful delinquents, and no world-weariness, and no imposed and questionable social attitudes; here instead by the Concord River where Maggie lives is a touching, tender love story honestly and simply told.

W. G. Rogers

THE MOB'S MAN, as told to James D. Horan; Crown.

The policy racket, also known as "numbers" or "bolito," is a $100-million-a-year business that helps to finance other activities of "the mob" —legitimate enterprises as well as the vicious drug trade. The top echelons of the police department wage an unremitting battle against the racket, but public apathy, the dishonesty of many patrolmen and the soft attitude of some judges have made it so far a losing fight. This is an inside story of the policy operation in Harlem told by a former professional criminal ("Andy") who risked his life by turning informer after the mob had killed his life-long partner in crime. The story, set down by Horan, special events editor of the New York Journal-American, is in effect the autobiography of a man who chose crime in his teens —and who has seen the inside of practically every important prison in New York State.



THEFT PROTECTION for Bill Mendoes' 1924 Case car is provided by this "burglar bar," one of the earliest anti-car theft devices—and a highly effective one.

Drawings Add Much To Book For Tots

THE LITTLE HORSE THAT RACED A TRAIN by Wilma Pitchford Hays. Drawings by Wesley Dennis. Little, Brown and Company .Ages 7-11. 40 pp.

Here is the tale of a lonely boy named Elmer who lived in a construction camp in the Rocky Mountains and the little horse that raced the train Elmer took to school. One winter morning Elmer discovered that the little horse was trapped by snow on a mountain top.

How Elmer roused the adult world to the rescue makes for a touching boy-meets-horse story.

The 22 drawings by Wesley Dennis add a distinctive dimension to the book. In their sensitivity and richness, the drawings do more to create an atmosphere of drama and excitement than the text itself.

MINING STORY BY SAUSALITO PUBLISHER

An illustrated 56-page booklet and colored map of Virginia City, Nev., and the Comstock Lode area have been published by Pages of History, a new Sausalito firm.

This, its first offering, tells the story of mining the Comstock Lode, emphasizing the old mining methods and the mines themselves.

So that those who wish may tour the area the map has 48 points of interest marked on it that are keyed to the text.

Priced at $1.50, the booklet is available at Marin bookstores, rock shops and from the publishers.

MARIN ET CETERA

By Harry Craft

Automatic Clothes Dryers Doom Back Fence Checks On Neighbors

"THREADBARE starts out with a fine white clothesline. It will dry your clothes as well as any white clothesline. But Threadbare has something which no other clothesline CAN give you—hexaclorophene . . . If your clothesline doesn't have these red stripes, you're not getting germ-killing hexachlrophene. . . ."

Maybe an ad like this would revive interest in the old washday broadcast antenna, but I doubt it. For some time there has been a movement afoot by manufacturers to keep people from airing their linen in public, and it looks like they have succeeded with a sneaky invention called the automatic clothes dryer.

Time was when Mrs. C. could crane her neck over the back fence and fill me in that night on what the neighbors had been doing all week when never a word had been spoken.

"Hilda and Frank had eight people for dinner Saturday," she'd say, "and it must have been quite a party. She should have poured salt on the napkins and tablecloth where the wine was spilled."

Or—"George Cross has had a terrible cold lately, and I think Myrtle is coming down with it, too—or else it's the children. Maybe I should give her some of those nose drops your mother concocted."

"You stay away if they've all got colds," I'd warn. "We don't want their germs."

"Oh, I haven't been there. I've been counting handkerchiefs on the line for the last week, and I've seen George through the window. He has not been going to work."

"Maybe he lost his job."

CLOTHESLINES had other advantages. When they got worn — usually from birds picking at the threads to build their nests—and had to be replaced, it meant an extra supply of rope for odd jobs. Ever try to find a piece of rope around the house?

Of course this was a little hard on the Mrs. Whoever thought of putting up a new clothesline until the old one broke, weighted down with 30 assorted wet smacks which she had to re-wash and leave in a basket until you came home that night?

Apartment houses used to have more pennants flying aloft than the commodore's yacht. Frequently there were not enough lines for all the tenants and this meant they had to rotate wash days or get up early in the morning to reserve parking space.

Once we lived in a pair of flats where the other tenants had a new baby. No matter what day it was, by the time my wife got to the roof diapers fluttered from all the mastlines as far as the eye could see.

She timed her neighbor's ascension and found it to be 9 a.m. Arising and washing one hour earlier she made it to the poopdeck by 8 when there wasn't a sail on the horizon.

But it didn't last. One morning she was beaten to the yardarm again. Our neighbor had adopted her own tactics. First thing you know the alarm was being set for 4 bells and I was having to get my own breakfast. The breaking point came when the washing and hanging was being done after I came home from work at night and I had to help her. I notified the landlord we were moving and we were lucky enough to get a small cottage across the street with no garage but its own private clothesline.

HE DIDN'T have any trouble renting the place as soon as we left—to a young couple with twins. But he had another vacancy shortly afterward. Our former neighbor couldn't take the competition.

We still haven't bought an automatic clothes dryer, but I guess we'll have to. My wife is very unhappy.

All our neighbors know what's going on at our place but she's no longer able to tune in on their wavelength.

It's frustrating.

Tips For Drivers Traveling Those Mountain Roads

The National Automobile Club has these suggestions for California drivers motoring into the Sierras or along the rugged Pacific coast line:

Remember that on narrow country roads where the grade is not of sufficient width as to allow safe passing, the vehicle descending the hill must give up the right-of-way to an ascending vehicle. The descending vehicle is the logical one to back up, because its driver will have easier and better control.

Keep in mind that mountain driving is particularly tiring for most city drivers. Take advantage of rest stops because suitable spots are often few and far between.

Remember that the state vehicle code requires driver to drive as near as possible along the right-hand edge of the highway. And any driver approaching a curve where the view is obstructed within a distance of 200 feet should sound his horn.

And don't forget when traveling downgrade do not allow your vehicle to coast in neutral. A car riding free of mechanical control is a death instrument that will fight strongly every human attempt to curb its downhill run.

Shrill Of Bagpipes Heard In Marin

Kilted Band Colorful Music Unit

There's a sound being heard in Marin these days that makes the blood tingle in residents of Scottish ancestry.

Its the shrill of bagpipes and the thunder of drums. And it comes from the Stuart Highlanders Pipe Band, a 20-member group organized this past spring under the leadership of Roderick Aya, president of the band and Belvedere resident.

The Highlanders will be heard next in Marin on Saturday of next week when they will perform for the 60th annual Sunny Hills Grape Festival in San Anselmo.

Their performance is slated at 12:30 p.m.

WHILE THE Highlanders were organized only this year, many of the members had played together for years.

All share an enthusiasm for bagpipe music.

And they point out that their favorite instrument has had a colorful and important role in the history of Scotland. In fact the music of bagpipes was once banned and the instruments branded an "instrument of war" by the English, so great is the effect of the sound on Scottish emotions.

The skirl of pipes and the whirl of kilts will attract much attention at the Grape Festival next Saturday. The colorful uniforms, kilts in the red plaid of MacLean of Duart, are the official uniform.

In a pipe band the bass drum gives a steady beat, with a definite syncopation added by the snare or side drums. This bit follows patterns often composed by the drummer.

Tenor drummers twirl their sticks with flair and also follow patterns fixed as an unwritten tradition and passed on from drummer to drummer. Pipers all over the world take an interest in each other and exchange music and news of bands. There is even a college of piping in Glasgow, Scotland.

THE NEWLY formed Entertainment Guild, headed by Mrs. Paul Spengler of Ross, is responsible for producing this unusual addition to Grape Festival entertainment. They feel

Jazz Time Soon At Monterey

The Monterey Peninsula will be swarming with jazz fans the weekend of Oct. 2, 3, and 4 with some 35,000 expected to attend the second annual Monterey Jazz Festival.

A five-concert program is planned, one each evening plus afternoon shows Oct. 3 and 4.

Exhibits including art and photography as well as music are planned. Strolling folk singers and impromptu jazz sessions will be added attractions.

New Marin Art Gallery

A new art gallery with display space for 40 paintings has opened at the Unitarian Church of Marin, 805 Fifth Ave., San Rafael.

First exhibit at the gallery is the paintings and drawings of Carl T. Endemann of Larkspur, which the artist terms "somewhat of the French Impressionistic style."

Endemann's show will continue until Oct. 15, when an exhibit of oil and watercolor paintings by Gordon Robinson of Belveron Gardens will replace it.

The gallery is open from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 1:30 to 4 p.m. on Sundays. It will be closed Saturdays.

Both members of the church and non-members will use the gallery.

Books Devoted To Sculptors

Universe Books Inc. has announced the publication of the first ten titles in a new series devoted to important modern sculptors.

The books are illustrated.

Titles and authors include "Charles Despiau" by Waldemar George, "Julio Gonzalez" by Leon Degand, "Barbara Hepworth" by A. M. Hammacher, "Henri Laurens" by Cecile Goldscheider, "Wilhelm Lehmbruch" by Werner Hofmann, "Jacques Lipchitz" by Robert Goldwater, "Marino Marini" by Em Langui, "Arturo Martini" by G. C. Argan, "Henry Moore" by J. P. Hodin, and "Ossip Zadkine" by A. M. Hammacher.

New Homes Strive For Friendly Look

Have you ever seen a home which seemed to reach right out to the street to shake your hand? If so, you have witnessed an important facet of modern home design: hospitality.

Everywhere, homes are being designed with the new, friendly look. It shows in their proudly exposed structural members, in their chaste lines, in their liberal use of warm, natural materials like wood, even in the refreshing creations being used for front walks. But nowhere is this welcoming touch more apparent than in the entrance area.

It takes a lot of talent to design a friendly entrance. There must be just the right blend of simplicity and drama, of candor and sophistication. The real secret lies in opening up the entrance area without in any way destroying the privacy of the homeowners, and this entrance turns the trick admirably.

THE OPEN WARMTH of such a home may stem largely from its exposed structural members: posts and beams of glued laminated Douglas fir and a ceiling of exposed western red cedar decking. By accentuating them strongly, the architect can also draw upon these elements for the drama he has stirred into the entryway.

The cedar ceiling decking and cedar board and reversed batten siding can be finished in a soft, sandlewood rez, while the fir posts and beams are stained quite dark as a means of underlining their presence.

Then, to fully exploit these ingredients, the upper portion of the exterior walls are in glass so that a person approaching the front door can look directly into the house and experience the flow of strength and continuity these elements create as they jut out over the entrance.

A panel of glass adjacent to the gayly painted front door gives the final touch to this friendly entrance. Although it opens to view the inner entryway, the house has been planned so that no other area is exposed to view from the outside. Thus privacy has been preserved and hospitality created in one master stroke.

BELVEDERE'S Roderick Aya, president of the Stuart Highlander Pipe Band, gets in some practice licks in preparation for his group's appearance at the 60th annual Sunny Hills Grape Festival in San Anselmo next Saturday.

fortunate in getting Stuart Highlanders who even though they are less than a year old have already been honored as "band of the day" at the 94th annual Scottish Games held at Petaluma September 6 under the auspices of the Caledonian Club of San Francisco. They also won Grade B pipe band competition at the Scottish Games.

Pipers of the Stuart Highlanders Pipe Band meet each Wednesday night for practice and pleasure.

Backgrounds of bandsmen vary. Numbered among them is an accountant, several engineers, a utility company executive, a fireman and a public relations man. In fact, there seems to be no special call that makes a man want to play the bagpipes except he has "always" wanted to.

Don't Delay The Removal Of Your Dead Shade Trees

If one of your shade trees dies, have it removed as soon as possible. According to the National Arborist Association there are several reasons why the job should not be long postponed.

A dead tree is dangerous. Shortly after it dies it is invaded by wood-rotting fungi. Increasingly weakened by decay, eventually branches drop or the entire tree topples over, and this may occur with little or no warning. Falling dead wood may damage your house or property, or it may cause injury to any person in the immediate vicinity of the tree. The longer a dead tree stands, the more hazardous it becomes.

SOMETIMES dead trees are inhabited by fungus diseases that also attack living trees. The fungus lives on or in dead wood and produces spores, corresponding in function to the seed of higher plants, which are carried to nearby trees by wind, insects or other means.

Various injurious insects live and breed in dead trees. An example of this is the bark beetle that serves as the carrier of the Dutch elm disease. These insects over-winter as small, white larvae, or grubs, just under the bark of dying or recently dead elm wood.

With the coming of spring they emerge as adult beetles, fly to nearby healthy elms, and feed on the succulent bark of young twigs and branches. If the elm wood from which they emerge is diseased, the beetles may carry some of the spores of the fungus on their bodies and, in feeding, transmit the disease to the healthy elm.

IT MAY BE difficult for you to determine whether or not a tree is dead after the leaves drop in the autumn, but it is easy during the summer and early fall—a dead tree has no green leaves. Examine your trees before the autumnal leaf drop occurs, and mark those that are dead. Then there will be no confusion or mistakes made if you have to postpone removal until late fall or winter.

Tips on Purchase and Home Care of Your Wardrobe

BACK TO SCHOOL!

This Fall's Back - to - School coats bring with them a new vocabulary—you may select a sur-coat, car-coat, motor-coat, rover-coat, scooter coat, storm coat, or a "Penguin" coat. The styles, the combination of fabrics and trim are as varied as the names of the coats.

The National Institute of Dry Cleaning, tells us the outer fabrics—cotton sheen, cotton poplin, cavalry twill, tweed, corduroy, or leather—are truly dry-cleanable. So are the lining fabrics of quilted rayon, wool Orlon, Dynel or Verel fur-type pile fabrics. However, the combination of the outer fabric and the lining fabric, along with the interlining fabric, is a very important consideration.

Interlinings that contain fugitive - dyed black wool shoddy may cause trouble in removing ground-in soil or stains from the outer coating fabric. The black dye bleeds to the moisture required to remove the soil and stains. This makes a dye stain on the coating fabric.

Many leathers are dyed with colors that bleed to dry cleaning solvents. When bleeding occurs, the dye stains the white or light-colored lining fabric. Therefore the lining must be removed from the leather part of the garment, and each part must be cleaned separately.

It is a good rule not to let your coat get too soiled before you have it cleaned. Consult your dry cleaner about cleaning so you will understand the special care that is required to clean it satisfactorily.

DIAMOND DISPUTE—Moochie Morgan and Chuck Taylor disagree on signals in "A Diamond is a Boy's Best Friend," first of a two-part series on Little League baseball to be telecast Friday at 7:30 p. m. on KGO-TV's "Walt Disney Presents" (Channel 7). It will be the Disney season premiere.

Weekly TV Log

Dinah Shore Still Television Queen

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—If they passed out crowns for the king and queen of television, Dinah Shore would be a mortal cinch to wear the coronet for the distaff performers.

Dinah, moving into her ninth video year Oct. 4, has remained at the top of the TV heap simply by being herself.

Her challengers for longevity and popularity, Loretta Young and Gale Storm, also have weekly shows, but they play characters other than themselves.

"If a girl must be on television as regularly as I am, she's lucky to be a singer because there is such a diversity of material and things for her to do," she said.

How, then, does she account for the not-so-lucky Rosemary Clooney, Patti Page and Giesele Mackenzie?

"Gee," Dinah said, "I don't know what to say about that. I can only talk about myself. I do know I'm not the type of person audiences get a quick crush for, and just as fast a cooling off. It's a matter of establishing a rapport with the viewers.

"And that's something you can't develop. You have to have that quality to begin with."
